Instruction A: Transfer of State Property

Agency:

- Transfer of property from one State agency to another:
 - Prior to transfer, prepares and submits a DMB-222 to State Surplus. The transfer and re-use of State property should be an agency's first priority in the disposal of goods, equipment, and material.
 - In cases of restricted funding, reimbursement by the disposing agency may be required for property transferred to another State agency. Reimbursement shall be arranged by the department transferring the property independent of State Surplus. Pickup and delivery of materials will be performed by the agencies involved without shipment to a State Surplus Distribution Center.
 - Transfer of property to a State Surplus Distribution Center or an auction site:
 - Property not transferred to another State agency must be listed on a DMB-222, and submitted to State Surplus for review and disposition.
 - May arrange for the transportation of property to the State Surplus Distribution Center once approval has been obtained. Approval will be authorized via the DMB-222.
 - Property received at the State Surplus Distribution Center will be placed on display for acquisition and transfer to other State agencies.
 - May not transfer property to or withdraw property from the State Surplus Distribution Center during the week preceding or three days following a scheduled auction without prior approval of State Surplus.
 - If property is transferred from the State Surplus Distribution Center to an agency, it will be subject to a property transfer charge. The material must be removed within three working days of transfer. State Surplus reserves the right to charge an agency for space being used beyond this time.
 - A copy of the approved DMB-222 must accompany property being shipped to the State Surplus Distribution Center or auction site. Failure to provide this information may result in the refusal of delivery.
 - Prior arrangements should be made with State Surplus for the delivery of large shipments. Call the State Surplus Distribution Center for further information.

State Surplus Property Program:

- May transfer property confiscated by or disposed of by a law enforcement agency directly to the Michigan Federal Surplus Property Program for sale to specified participants of the program.
- This transfer may be authorized by State Surplus to assure property is not sold to the general public due to the sensitive nature of items being disposed of.
- Such items may include uniforms, property confiscated by drug enforcement officials, or other material which could be detrimental to the citizens or agencies of the State of Michigan should they be returned to the general public through the auction or sealed bid process.

Instruction B: Disposal of Worthless or Scrap Property

Requirements:

- Agencies may declare property worthless and dispose locally by completing a DMB-269 and following State Surplus Property Program procedures.
- When in the best economic interest of the State, surplus modular furniture that is declared worthless by the State Surplus program must be recycled using services provided by Michigan State Industries. If the cost of transporting worthless surplus modular furniture to a Michigan State Industries facility exceeds the benefit of recycling, the State Surplus Program may approve the recycling of that product by another vendor, if available. Michigan State Industries is responsible for the recovery of the recycling cost from the disposing agency. The State Surplus program is not responsible for the cost of recycling, or for billing for recycling services. Shipment of the worthless modular furniture shall be coordinated between the disposing agency, Michigan State Industries and the State Surplus Program. Shipping costs are paid by the disposing agency, which is consistent with all other surplus property.
- Surplus, which is contaminated and/or toxic, must be clearly noted on a DMB-222. Under no circumstances will an agency ship or deliver such surplus to the State Surplus Distribution Center or an auction site without obtaining prior approval from State Surplus. When it is determined that a contaminated or toxic substance requires disposal, all expenses (if any) incurred for storage, handling, and disposal will be the responsibility of the disposing agency.

 - Transformers

- Complete a DMB-269. This report must be signed by the administrative officer or authorized designee and a representative of the agency requesting disposal.
- Forward appropriate copy of DMB-269 to State Surplus following the disposal process.

Instruction C: Local Bid

State Surplus Property Program:

- May authorize the disposal of property locally when determined that it is impractical to transport the property to the State Surplus Distribution Center or auction site.
- Examples may include excessive cost of transportation and handling, limited means of transportation due to large and/or heavy property or for reasons considered to be in the best interest of State Government.
- If authorization to sell property through the local bid process is granted, issues the disposing agency a "local bid number" to be used for identification and recording purposes.
