Course Title: WZ Seminar on Criminal Interview & Interrogation
Course ID:
Description: Training in both the WZ Non-Confrontational Method and the Reid Method. The WZ non-accusatory technique is a softer, conversational approach that results in an admission (or multiple admissions) without the investigator ever having to make direct accusations associated with the direct positive confrontation. The non-confrontational approach reduces denials and objections, and is also more appropriate for interviewers who are eliciting actionable information rather than seeking a confession.
