Register to Meet With International Buyers at the Midwest Buyers Mission

Taking place July 25 – 29 in Ohio, Minnesota and Illinois, the 2011 Midwest Buyers Mission is a great avenue to establish new relationships with international buyers and initiate new export sales.

Over twenty buyers from around the world are expected to attend the Midwest Buyers Mission. Participating companies may choose to attend one of the three meeting locations.

The one-on-one meetings last approximately 30 minutes each and are prearranged based on your preferred markets.

Meetings are conveniently being held in Columbus, Ohio and Chicago, Illinois making this a great opportunity for Michigan companies to meet with international buyers without the expense and hassle of traveling abroad.

Buyers are looking for a wide range of products including processed products, gourmet, food service, bulk, ingredients, retail and much more. Buyer profiles will be available at foodexportalliance.org. The profiles provide more information on the buyer’s products of interest.

The 2010 Buyers Mission saw an actual increase in export sales of $1.7 million with a projected increase in export sales of over $76.5 million! Don’t miss out on this low-cost opportunity! Early registration is only $100 and ends May 30. The final registration deadline is July 11 for $150.

The Online Product Catalog is a web-based catalog that is used to promote your products to international buyers from around the world. By including your products in this virtual directory, buyers will easily be able to locate your company when searching by product, company name, or other criteria.

To use and benefit from the online product catalog upload your product information and photo into the Online Product Catalog by CLICKING HERE. You can change or create a new posting if you introduce a new product, line extension, or flavor. Each of your products can have a separate entry. It’s simple and there’s no charge.

Food Export has International Marketing Representatives promote the Online Product Catalog to qualified buyers around the world. Upon finding a product of interest, the system generates an email sent directly to you with an easily identifiable subject line.

A closer look into markets and services

Market Spotlight: South Korea

South Korea is the fifth largest market for American agricultural products. The United States is expected to increase its market share and supply by more than $6 billion in food and agricultural products.

The outlook for U.S. exports remains strong because demand for U.S. products is driven by Korean consumer trends which are converging with consumer trends in other developed economies including the United States.

Korean consumers place value on high quality, low cost, health and convenience in the course of making food purchasing decisions. Increasing affluence, more women in the workforce and a well-traveled younger generation seeking goods with an international flavor are promoting the rise of convenience stores, bulk retail outlets and western-style family restaurants.

When considering the Korean market, exporters should conduct preliminary research to determine if the market is appropriate for their product. It may not be possible to market the exact same product in Korea as in the United States.

Korean consumers may have different demands and Korean regulations differ for some additives and preservatives.

Another way of finding potential importers is to participate in a local food show in order to showcase your products to a larger audience. Many Korean importers attending these shows are looking to establish reliable long-term trading relationships. Show participation enhances initial contacts with importers, agents, wholesalers, distributors, retailers and others in the food and beverage industry.

Food Export is offering a Focused Trade Mission to Korea for Specialty Foods. This is an ideal way to make contacts and develop relationships with Korean importers. For more information on exporting to Korea CLICK HERE to view to the FAS Exporting Guide.
