DANA NESSEL
ATTORNEY GENERAL

AUTHORITY

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

To the Honorable Legislature of the state of Michigan:

In accordance with the provisions of MCL 14.30, I submit the Report of the Attorney General for the biennial period of January 1, 2019, through December 31, 2020.

DANA NESSEL
Attorney General

DANA NESSEL

Attorney General

A former criminal prosecutor in Wayne County and civil rights attorney, Dana Nessel was sworn in as Michigan's 54th Attorney General on January 1, 2019. Her core initiatives have been fashioned in the image of her promise to Michigan's residents — to give the Department of Attorney General back to the people it serves. As the State's Chief Law Enforcement Officer, Attorney General Nessel launched Michigan's Elder Abuse Task Force, in partnership with the Michigan Supreme Court, to stop the rise of crimes against one of our most vulnerable populations. She launched the department's first Auto Insurance Fraud Unit to investigate and prosecute individuals and businesses who exploit Michigan residents and the system designed to protect the safety of Michigan's drivers. She has continued the department's two largest criminal investigations into the Flint Water Crisis and clergy abuse in the Catholic Church. After starting a Hate Crimes Unit in 2019, she has recently expanded that unit's mission to tackle the increase in crimes related to domestic terrorism. Lastly, she has made public integrity a top priority of the department, reviewing and prosecuting — where appropriate — cases involving law enforcement and other public officials due to conflicts of interest for county prosecutors.

A graduate of the University of Michigan and Wayne State University Law School, Attorney General Nessel lives in southeast Michigan with her family.

Christina M. Grossi

Chief Deputy Attorney General

Christina M. Grossi serves as Chief Deputy for Michigan Attorney General Dana Nessel. Ms. Grossi previously served as the Chief of Operations for Attorney General Nessel, and Chief of the State Operations Division under former Attorney General Bill Schuette. She has worked at the department since 2010.

Before coming to the Department of Attorney General, Grossi worked at Gilbert, Smith & Borrello, P.C. She's been licensed to practice since 2004 and is a graduate of James Madison College at Michigan State University and Cooley Law School.

During her time with the office, Grossi helped lead the department's investigation into Michigan State University related to Larry Nasser. She's twice won the department's Top Civil Litigator Award and was awarded Senior Staff of the Year in 2020 by the National Association of Attorneys General (NAAG).

Fadwa A. Hammoud

Solicitor General

Fadwa A. Hammoud was sworn in as Michigan's 12th Solicitor General on January 15, 2019. Upon her appointment by Attorney General Dana Nessel, Hammoud became the youngest ever Michigan Solicitor General and the first Muslim Arab American Solicitor General in the United States. Hammoud supervises all appellate activity and criminal divisions in the department as well as the newly created Conviction Integrity unit. Hammoud leads the Flint Water investigation and prosecution team of Special Agents and Assistant Attorneys General.

A graduate of Wayne State University Law School, she earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in Political Science and Communication from the University of Michigan-Dearborn.

Hammoud assumed her role as Michigan's top appellate attorney after years of public service on behalf of the people of Wayne County. As Lead Attorney under Wayne County Prosecutor Kym L. Worthy, Hammoud established the Business Protection Unit and prosecuted criminal enterprise, homicide, financial crime, and identity theft cases.

Valerie A. Schmidt, Department Training Coordinator

The Professional Responsibility, Education, and Policy Board (PREP) mission is:

- a. To advise the Attorney General and Chief Deputy on issues relating to department employee training, ethics and policies;
- b. To coordinate an effective continuing education program for all department staff;
- c. To review ethics issues affecting department staff, recommend courses of action to the Attorney General and Chief Deputy, and provide staff guidance;
- d. To review, develop, and update all department policies to meet the evolving needs of the department and its employees.

During 2019-2020, the PREP Board authorized 284 training courses. Over the two-year period, training was provided to 3,314 attendees. In addition to the Basic Legal Training curriculum, the board implemented a curriculum that emphasized training on The Responsibilities of an AAG: Integrity, Phone Protocol and Safety, and FOIA training for division liaisons. The board also continued to promote Institute of Continuing Legal Education (ICLE) training opportunities through the AG-ICLE “Partnership Programs.”

A major focus of 2020 was the delivery of small group training sessions to all staff on diversity, equity, inclusion, and implicit bias. The board secured the cooperation of a training expert from the Department of Civil Rights who provided this training at no cost to the entire department. During 2020, Sexual Harassment Prevention training was delivered to all managers. Civil Service provided live webinar training geared towards managers and employees on coping with the stress of COVID-19.

The board partnered with the training arm of the National Association of Attorneys General (known as NAGTRI) to bring Motion Practice Skills to Lansing to provide advanced skills to 21 department staff. NAGTRI also offered monthly webinars on various legal topics including several webinars related to COVID-19. In 2019, 179 staff attended a NAGTRI webinar. In 2020, that number increased significantly to 885 participants. A series on the Fundamental Principles of Managerial Leadership was also provided.

DEPARTMENT OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

OPINION POLICY

Michigan law provides that “[i]t shall be the duty of the attorney general, when required, to give [her] opinion upon all questions of law submitted to [her] by the legislature, or by either branch thereof, or by the governor, auditor general, treasurer, or any other state officer. . . .”¹⁰⁸ Michigan’s Supreme Court has recognized that one of the “primary missions” of the Attorney General is to give legal advice to the Legislature, and to departments and agencies of state government.¹⁰⁹ Although not legally required to do so, the Attorney General may respond to opinion requests from individual members of the Legislature. In deciding whether to grant such requests, the Attorney General takes into account the need to allocate limited resources and other long recognized policy considerations outlined below. County prosecutors may also submit opinion requests provided that they are accompanied by a memorandum of law analyzing the legal question.

Consistent with her primary mission, the Attorney General prioritizes opinion requests that affect the operation of state government. Because the Legislature has authorized local units of government to employ their own legal counsel to provide guidance on matters of local concern, the Attorney General typically does not issue opinions concerning the interpretation of local charters, local ordinances, locally negotiated collective bargaining agreements, and other uniquely local issues.

Upon receipt, all opinion requests are referred to the Assistant Attorney General for Law. Opinion requests are initially evaluated to determine whether to grant the request to issue an opinion. Typical reasons for declining a request are: 1) the requester is not a person authorized to request an opinion under the applicable law; 2) the request seeks an interpretation of proposed legislation that may never become law; 3) the question asked is currently pending before a court or administrative tribunal or is likely to be the subject of litigation in the near future; 4) the request involves the operation of the judicial branch of government or a local unit of government; or 5) the request seeks legal advice on behalf of, or involves disputes between, private persons or entities.

If the request is granted, it is then determined whether the response should be classified as a formal opinion, letter opinion, or informational letter. Formal opinions address questions significant to the state’s jurisprudence that warrant publication. Letter opinions involve questions that are appropriately addressed by the Attorney General but are of more limited impact and do not warrant publication. Informational letters address questions that have relatively clear, well-established answers or are narrow in scope. Copies of all pending requests are provided to the Governor’s Legal Counsel and to the Senate and House Majority and Minority Council, thereby affording notice that the question is under review and the opportunity for input. Any person may submit information regarding pending requests.

If the opinion request is granted, it is assigned to an assistant attorney general having recognized expertise in the relevant area of the law. This attorney is expected to prepare a thoroughly researched and well-written draft. The Assistant Attorney General for Law then reviews the draft to assure it is legally sound and performs any editing that may be needed. The draft also may be circulated to other attorneys within the Department of Attorney General for additional substantive review.

All informational letters, and most letter opinions, are submitted directly to the Chief Legal Counsel for review and approval. If the draft does not require further editing, it is submitted to the Attorney General; or, in the case of informational letters, the draft is signed and issued by the Chief Legal Counsel. Drafts of most formal opinions and some letter opinions or informational letters are first submitted for consideration and approval by the Attorney General's Opinion Review Board (ORB).

The ORB consists of assistant attorneys general appointed by the Attorney General who specialize in diverse subject areas. The ORB reviews draft opinions to assure they are cogently written based upon settled principles of law that will withstand possible legal challenge in the courts. In considering a draft, the ORB may receive input from the drafter as well as other persons outside the department, revise the draft, direct that revisions be made by others, or request that a counter draft be submitted by either the original drafter or by another person.

Upon final ORB approval, draft opinions are submitted to the Executive division for review and, if approved, to the Attorney General for her further review, approval, and signature or other appropriate action.

Upon issuance, formal opinions are published and indexed in the Biennial Report of the Attorney General. Formal opinions issued since March 1, 1963 are available on the Attorney General's website: www.michigan.gov/ag. Formal opinions may also be found on both Westlaw and Lexis. Formal and letter opinions, as well as informational letters, are available on request from the department's Opinions Division.

FORMAL OPINIONS

CONSTITUTIONAL LAW: Constitutionality of 2018 PA 359.

CONST 1963, ART 4, § 24:

Sections 14d(1), (4) and (5) of 2018 PA 359 violate article 4, § 24 of the Michigan Constitution because the substance of these provisions exceeds the scope of what is generally reflected in the title of 1952 PA 214, as amended by Act 359.

Sections 14d(1), (4), and (5) of 2018 PA 359, which are unconstitutional under article 4, § 24 of the Constitution, cannot be severed from the remainder of Act 359 because doing so would be inconsistent with the intent of the Legislature.

Any court determination that 2018 PA 359 is unconstitutional would likely apply that decision retroactively, and conclude that the Mackinac Straits Corridor Authority, its Board, and any action taken by the Board are void from their inception.

Opinion No. 7309

March 28, 2019

The Honorable Gretchen Whitmer
Governor
The Capitol
Lansing, MI 48909

You have asked several questions regarding the constitutionality of 2018 PA 359 (Act 359), which amended the Mackinac Bridge Authority Law, 1952 PA 214, MCL 254.311 *et seq.*¹ Principally, the amendments authorized the Mackinac Bridge Authority (Bridge Authority) to acquire a “utility tunnel”² connecting the Upper and Lower Peninsulas of Michigan, created the Mackinac Straits Corridor Authority (Corridor Authority), and authorized the Bridge Authority or the Corridor Authority to operate a utility tunnel. 2018 PA 359.

¹This office received comments regarding your request from Andrene Dabaghi and Margrethe Kearney, on behalf of the Environmental Law & Policy Center; Andy Buchsbaum, Benjamin Muth, Oday Salim, Mike Shriberg, Beth Wallace, and Bruce Wallace, on behalf of the National Wildlife Federation; Gary Gordon, on behalf of the Michigan Chamber of Commerce; Scott W. Howard, Ross A. Hammersley, William C. Rastetter, and Rebecca L. Millican, on behalf of the Straits of Mackinac Alliance, the Grand Traverse Band of Ottawa and Chippewa Indians, and the City of Mackinac Island; James Olson and Elizabeth Kirkwood, on behalf of For Love of Water; and law student Blaise Ryan.

² Act 359 defines the term “utility tunnel” to mean:

[A] tunnel joining and connecting the Upper and Lower Peninsulas of this state at the Straits of Mackinac for the purpose of accommodating utility infrastructure, including, but not limited to, pipelines, electric transmission lines, facilities for the transmission of data and telecommunications, all useful and related facilities, equipment, and structures, and all necessary tangible or intangible real and personal property, licenses, franchises, easements, and rights-of-way. [2018 PA 359, § 14(e), MCL 254.324(e).]

History of 2018 PA 359

Act 359 was introduced as Senate Bill 1197 on November 8, 2018.³ As introduced, the Act amended 1952 PA 214 to allow the Bridge Authority to acquire, construct, operate, maintain, improve, repair, and manage a utility tunnel; to purchase or otherwise acquire at a fair and reasonable price property and property rights in connection with the construction of the tunnel; to enter on any land, water, or premises to make a survey, sounding, or examination in connection with the tunnel; to perform any acts necessary to secure consent from any state entity necessary for the construction and operation of the tunnel; to specify that the Authority's purposes were a public purpose and its performance was an essential government function; to specify that all property owned by the Authority related to the tunnel would be exempt from all taxes levied by the State and all of its political subdivisions; and to define the term utility tunnel.⁴ The bill accomplished these changes by amending the title to Public Act 214 and adding a new § 14.⁵

Senate Bill 1197 was referred to committee and was reported out as Substitute S-1 on November 29, 2018.⁶ Substitute S-1 added amendments to § 5 of Public Act 214, which relates to bonds issued to finance the Mackinac Bridge construction, and specified that § 5 did not apply to the "utility tunnel" authorized in § 14.⁷ Substitute S-1 was referred to committee on December 5, 2018 and was reported out as Substitute S-2 on the same day.⁸

Substitute S-2 made significant changes in that it authorized the creation of the Corridor Authority, headed by the Corridor Authority Board. Upon appointment of members to the Corridor Authority Board, all duties, responsibilities, authorities, and powers of the Bridge Authority related to a "utility tunnel" would transfer to the Corridor Authority Board. Substitute S-2 required the Corridor Authority to enter into an agreement or series of agreements for the construction, maintenance, operation, and decommissioning of a utility tunnel if the Corridor Authority made certain findings regarding the proposed agreements. If a proposed tunnel agreement were supplied by the governor to the Corridor Authority before December 21, the Corridor Authority was required to enter into the agreement(s) by December 31, 2018. If the governor did not supply a proposed tunnel agreement by that date, the Corridor Authority would-have to act on a proposed agreement within 45 days after one was presented. have to act on a proposed agreement within 45 days after one was presented.

Substitute S-2 also created the Straits Protection Fund, which could accept money or assets from any source, and the Corridor Authority Board could use the fund for oversight of the proposed utility tunnel. Substitute S-2 also added a provision to require the attorney general to provide for the costs of representation by an attorney chosen by the Bridge Authority or the Corridor Authority if the attorney general declined to represent either body in a matter related to the utility tunnel.⁹ Substitute S-2 accomplished these changes by amending the title to Public Act 214, amending §§ 1 and 5, and adding new §§ 14, 14a, 14b, 14c, 14d, and 14e.¹⁰ The same day it was reported out of committee, Substitute S-2 was approved by the Senate by a vote of 25 to 13, and sent to the House of Representatives.¹¹

On December 11, 2018, Senate Bill 1197, as substituted, was reported from committee as House Substitute H-2, but H-2 was not adopted.¹² House Substitute H-1 was then adopted.¹³ The House approved an amendment to H-1, requiring that a tunnel agreement include a plan for engaging the State's labor pool in the project, and passed SB 1197 by a vote of 74 to 34.¹⁴ Senate Bill 1197, as substituted by H-1, was then returned to the Senate the same day and the Senate concurred in Substitute H-1, passed the bill on a 25 to 12 vote, and gave it immediate effect.¹⁵

Senate Bill 1197 was presented to former Governor Rick Snyder on December 11, 2018 and he signed it the same day. It was filed with the Secretary of State on December 12, 2018 and became immediately effective¹⁶ as Public Act 359 of 2018.¹⁷

Legal principles

When addressing a constitutional challenge to a statute, the statute is “presumed to be constitutional” and there is a “duty to construe [the] statute as constitutional unless its unconstitutionality is clearly apparent.” Taylor v Smithkline Beecham Corp., 468 Mich 1, 6 (2003). Indeed, every “reasonable presumption or intentment must be indulged in favor of the validity of an act, and it is only when invalidity appears so clearly as to leave no room for reasonable doubt that it violates some provision of the Constitution” that the statute’s validity will not be sustained. Phillips v Mirac, Inc, 470 Mich 415, 423 (2004) (quotation marks and citations omitted).

Title-Object Clause

You ask whether Act 359 violates article 4, § 24 of the Michigan Constitution, often referred to as the Title-Object Clause. Const 1963, art 4, § 24.

A. Title-Object Clause Framework

Article 4, § 24 of Michigan’s Constitution provides that “[n]o law shall embrace more than one object, which shall be expressed in its title. No bill shall be altered or amended on its passage through either house so as to change its original purpose as determined by its total content and not alone by its title.” Michigan’s two previous Constitutions contained the same language set forth in the first sentence of § 24. See Const 1908, art 5, § 21, Const 1850, art 4, § 20. The second sentence, prohibiting a change of purpose, was new to the 1963 Constitution.

Not long after its initial adoption, Justice Cooley described the purpose of the Title-Object Clause:

The history and purpose of this constitutional provision are too well understood to require any elucidation at our hands. The practice of bringing together into one bill subjects diverse in their nature, and having no necessary connection, with a view to combine in their favor the advocates of all, and thus secure the passage of several measures, no one of which would succeed upon its own merits, was one both corruptive of the legislator and dangerous to the state. It was scarcely more so, however, than another practice, also intended to be remedied by this provision, by which, through deleterious management, clauses were inserted in bills of which the titles gave no intimation, and their passage secured through legislative bodies whose members were not generally aware of their intention and effect. [People ex

rel. Drake v Mahaney, 13 Mich 481, 494–495 (1865).]¹⁹

Justice Cooley clarified, however, that the intent of the clause was not to unnecessarily hinder the passage of legislation:

There was no design by this clause to embarrass legislation by making laws unnecessarily restrictive in their scope and operation, and thus multiplying their number; but the framers of the constitution meant to put an end to legislation of the vicious character referred to, which was little less than a fraud upon its own merits, and that the legislature should be fairly notified of its design when required to pass upon it. [Id.]

Generally, three types of challenges may be brought under the Title-Object Clause: (1) a title-body challenge, (2) a multiple-object challenge, and (3) a change-of-purpose challenge. People v Kevorkian, 447 Mich 436, 453 (1994). Your request raises all three with respect to the enactment of Public Act 359. But because the title-body challenge is dispositive, it is unnecessary to address the multiple-object and change-of-purpose challenges.

1. Title-body review

A title-body challenge contends that “the title of the act does not adequately express the content of the law.” Kevorkian, 447 Mich at 453; Twp of Ray v B & BS Gun Club, 226 Mich App 724, 728–729 (1997). Relevant to this analysis, article 4, §24 provides that “[n]o law shall embrace more than one object, which shall be expressed in its title.” Const 1963, art 4, § 24. “The ‘object’ of a law is defined as its general purpose or aim,” and this “one object” provision “must be construed reasonably, not in so narrow or technical a manner that the legislative intent is frustrated.” Pohutski v City of Allen Park, 465 Mich 675, 691 (2002) (citations omitted). Regarding the title, “the constitutional requirement is not that the title refer to every detail of the act; rather, ‘[i]t is sufficient that “the act centers to one main general object or purpose which the title comprehensively declares, though in general terms, and if provisions in the body of the act not directly mentioned in the title are germane, auxiliary, or incidental to that general purpose[.]” ’ ” Id. (citations omitted).

The Michigan Supreme Court applied these principles in holding a statute unconstitutional in Rohan v Detroit Racing Ass’n, and that decision is instructive here. 314 Mich 326 (1946). In Rohan, the Court addressed a title-body challenge to 1933 PA 199: “The precise question is whether [] the provision of section 9 of Act No. 199 authorizing the leasing of State-owned land for ‘the conduct of horse racing,’ embraces an object no[t] express[e]d in the title of the act. In other words, is this leasing provision germane, auxiliary or incidental to the general object of the act as expressed in its title[.]” 314 Mich at 354. The title to Public Act 199 provided:

“An Act to provide, regulate and license the conducting of

racing meets in the state of Michigan; to create the office of Michigan racing commissioner, to prescribe his powers and duties and to provide for []his salary and expenses; to legalize and permit auction pools, the pari-mutuel or certificate method of wagering on the result of races at licensed race meetings in the state of Michigan; to appropriate the funds derived therefrom; to render inapplicable all acts or parts of acts in conflict therewith, and to provide penalties for the violation thereof.” [Rohan, 314 Mich at 354, quoting 1933 PA 199, title (emphasis added).]

Section 9 of Public Act 199 authorized the state department of agriculture “to lease on behalf of the state, for the conduct of horseracing and other lawful purposes, any lands subject to the control of the said department of agriculture, said lease to be subject to the approval of the state administrative board.” 1933 PA 199, § 9 (emphasis added)

After noting these provisions and existing precedents, the Court restated the question as whether “the title of the act g[ave] the legislature and the public, fair notice that the act contain[ed] a provision delegating to the department of agriculture authority to lease State-owned land, such as the Detroit fair grounds, for ‘the conduct of horse racing[.]’ ” Id. at 356. The Court concluded it did not:

We are convinced that the wording of the title of the act does not give notice of, or call attention to, or in any way express or indicate, the object or purpose of delegating authority to the department of agriculture to lease State-owned land for the conduct of horse racing. [Id. at 356-357 (citations omitted).]

The Court further stated that the provision in § 9 “authorizing the department of agriculture to lease State-owned land under its control [was] not germane, auxiliary or incidental to the general object and purpose of the act as expressed in its title, which was to regulate horse-racing meets and betting on horse races.” Id. at 357 (citations omitted). In other words, the language in the title regarding the provision, regulation, and conduct of horse-racing meets did not adequately reflect the leasing provision in the body of the act. Accordingly, the Court held § 9 of Public Act 199 unconstitutional. Id.

Similarly, in Maki v East Tawas, the Supreme Court noted that § 24 “was not a hollow formality” and sustained a title-body challenge to § 7 of 1964 PA 170 because the title provided for governmental immunity for injuries arising from negligence, but the body, in § 7 of the statute, provided for governmental immunity from all tort liability. 385 Mich 151, 156–159 (1971) (superseded by subsequent statutory amendment to cure the Title-Object Clause violation). See also Alan v Wayne County, 388 Mich 210, 269, 364–381 (1972) (Black J., concurring specially); Knott v City of Flint, 363 Mich 483 (1961); Klatt v Durfee, 159 Mich 203 (1909); Blades v Board of Water Commr’s of Detroit, 122 Mich 366 (1899); and City of Birmingham v Oakland County, 49 Mich App 299 (1973) (finding title-body violations).

Turning to Act 359, an amendatory act, the question is whether the title to 1952 PA 214, as amended by Act 359, adequately expresses the content of the law. See Knott, 363 Mich at 495 (“As a general proposition the title of an act must be sufficiently broad so that one reading it may reasonably expect to find in the body of the act provisions of the character that the legislature has seen fit to insert, either in the original enactment or by amendment.”); Black v Powell, 248 Mich 150, 151 (1929) (observing that amended sections of the act were within the title as amended). See also Sutherland Statutory Construction, § 22:8, pp 272–273 (“Amendatory provisions that are not germane to the subject expressed in the title of the original act are unconstitutional, unless the title of the original act can be and is amended without violating the rule against dual subject matter.”).

The title to Act 214, as amended by Act 359, provides in full:

[1]An act authorizing the Mackinac bridge authority to acquire a bridge and a utility tunnel connecting the Upper and Lower Peninsulas of Michigan, including causeways, tunnels, roads and all useful related equipment and facilities, including park, parking, recreation, lighting, and terminal facilities; [2] extending the corporate existence of the authority; [3] authorizing the authority to enjoy and carry out all powers incident to its corporate objects; [4] authorizing the appropriation and use of state funds for the preliminary purposes of the authority; [5] providing for the payment of the cost of the bridge and authorizing the authority to issue revenue bonds payable solely from the revenues of the bridge; [6] granting the right of condemnation to the authority; [7] granting the use of state land and property to the authority; [8] making provisions for the payment and security of bonds and granting certain rights and remedies to the holders of bonds; [9] authorizing banks and trust companies to perform certain acts in connection with the payment and security of bonds; [10] authorizing the imposition of tolls and charges; [11] authorizing the authority to secure the consent of the United States government to the construction of the bridge and to secure approval of plans, specifications, and location of the bridge; [12] authorizing employment of engineers regardless of whether those engineers have been previously employed to make preliminary inspections or reports with respect to the bridge; [13] authorizing the state transportation department to operate and maintain the bridge or to contribute to the bridge and enter into leases and agreements in connection with the bridge; [14] exempting bonds and the property of the authority from taxation; [15] prohibiting competing traffic facilities; [16] authorizing the operation of ferries by the authority; [17] authorizing the creation of the Mackinac Straits corridor authority; [18] authorizing the operation of a utility tunnel by the authority or the Mackinac Straits corridor authority; [19] providing for the construction and use of certain buildings^[20]; [20] and making an appropriation. [2018 PA 359, title (Emphasis added; bracketed numbering added.)]

The italicized language represents the most relevant amendments to the title. While a title need not serve as an index to all the provisions of an act, Rohan, 314 Mich at 355; Twp of Ray, 226 Mich App at 728–729, it must “ ‘comprehensively declare[], though in general terms’ ” the “ ‘main general object or purpose’ ” of the act. Pohutski, 465 Mich at 691 (citations omitted) (emphasis added). The title need not directly mention other provisions in the body of the act if those provisions “ ‘are germane, auxiliary, or incidental to [the] general purpose[.]’ ” Id.

Here, the amendatory language in the title of Act 359 reflects that its main object or purpose is the acquisition of a utility tunnel at the Straits of Mackinac by the Bridge Authority and the operation of such a tunnel by either the Bridge Authority or a newly created Corridor Authority.

2. Section 14d of Act 359 fails title-body review

While Act 359 added several sections to Public Act 214, the “invalidity” of § 14d “appears so clearly as to leave no room for reasonable doubt” that it violates article 4, § 24 and cannot be sustained. Phillips, 470 Mich at 423. Because the analysis of § 14d is ultimately dispositive, it is unnecessary to address in this Opinion the legality of the other sections.

a. Subsection 14d(1)

Section 14d transfers all the Bridge Authority’s duties and powers relating to a utility tunnel under § 14a, and any money in the Straits Protection Fund created by § 14c, to the new Corridor Authority Board created by § 14b upon that Board’s appointment, to be exercised without any oversight by the Bridge Authority:

All liabilities, duties, responsibilities, authorities, and powers related to a utility tunnel as provided in section 14a and any money in the straits protection fund shall transfer to the corridor authority board upon the appointment of the members of the corridor authority board under section 14b(2). The transfer of duties, responsibilities, authorities, powers, and money described in this subsection does not require any action by the Mackinac bridge authority or any other entity. The corridor authority board shall exercise its duties independently of the state transportation department and the Mackinac bridge authority. [2018 PA 359, § 14d(1), MCL 254.324d(1).]

Under § 14d(1), the Bridge Authority’s initial authority to acquire the utility tunnel, and all that comes with it, is transferred to the Corridor Authority Board. This transfer comes without fair notice and is a surprise since clause 1 of the amended title “authori[zes] the Mackinac bridge authority to acquire . . . a utility tunnel connecting the Upper and Lower Peninsulas of Michigan[.]” (Emphasis added). Clause 17 of the amended title simply advises of the “creation of the Mackinac Straits corridor authority.” And clause 18 thereafter “authoriz[es] the operation of a utility tunnel by the authority or the Mackinac Straits corridor authority[.]” (Emphasis added). Clause 18 suggests that at some point the Corridor Authority may operate a utility tunnel. But, of course, the body of Act 359 reveals that all authority with respect to the utility tunnel – from its acquisition, construction, and operation, to the purchase of property and rights in property, and the securing of permits, etc. – is automatically transferred from the Bridge Authority to the Corridor Authority upon the appointment of its Board members. The Bridge Authority retains no duties or oversight of the utility tunnel.

Neither clauses 1, 17, and 18 nor any other clause in the amended title adequately encompass, or can be construed to encompass, the complete transfer of rights and duties relating to the acquisition, construction, and operation of a utility tunnel to the Corridor Authority. This transfer of authority was not “comprehensively declare[d], though in general terms” in the amended title. Pohutski, 465 Mich at 691–692. The constitutionality of § 14d(1) thus hinges on whether it may be considered germane, auxiliary, or incidental to the general purpose of Act 359 such that it need not have been mentioned in the amended title. Id.

An amendment or a substitute is germane if it falls within the general purpose of a bill or is an extension of the general purpose. Anderson v Oakland Cty Clerk, 419 Mich 313, 328 (1984). Again, the title of Act 359 reflects that its main object or purpose is to authorize the Bridge Authority to acquire a utility tunnel, which tunnel will then be operated by the Bridge Authority or the Corridor Authority. Here, the transfer of all powers and duties relating to the acquisition of a utility tunnel from the Bridge Authority to the Corridor Authority is not simply an extension of the main purpose reflected in the title. Rather, it is plain from the body of Act 359 that this transfer is a component of the central, and significantly different, purpose of the body of the Act—authorizing the Corridor Authority to almost immediately enter into a specific type of agreement with a private party to acquire and operate a utility tunnel. And as part of the core purpose of Act 359, the content of § 14d(1) must be reflected in the title. Because it was not, § 14d(1) is unconstitutional. Like the title in Rohan, the amended title to Act 359 does not provide “fair notice” of the automatic power transfer from the Bridge Authority to the newly created, and independent, Corridor Authority, nor is § 14d(1) germane, auxiliary, or incidental to the amended title. See Rohan, 314 Mich at 356–357.

b. Subsection 14d(4)

After receiving the transfer of powers and duties under § 14d(1), § 14d(4) required the Corridor Authority to enter into an agreement for the construction of a tunnel if an agreement was presented by a specific date and contained specific criteria:

Except as provided in subdivision (a), no later than December 31, 2018, the Mackinac Straits corridor authority shall enter into an agreement or a series of agreements for the construction, maintenance, operation, and decommissioning of a utility tunnel, if the Mackinac Straits corridor authority finds all of the following:

(a) That the governor has supplied a proposed tunnel agreement to the Mackinac Straits corridor authority on or before December 21, 2018. If the governor has not supplied a proposed tunnel agreement to the Mackinac Straits corridor authority on or before December 21, 2018, the Mackinac Straits corridor authority shall act on the proposed tunnel agreement no later than 45 days after the date the proposed agreement is presented. [2018 PA 359, § 14d(4), MCL 254.324d(4).]

Subsection 14d(4) goes on to identify ten specific criteria that the Corridor Authority, through its Board, must find to exist in a proposed tunnel agreement before entering into an agreement. 2018 PA 359, § 14d(4)(b)–(k) (b) (allow use of tunnel by multiple utilities); (c) (require gathering of geotechnical information); (d) (build tunnel to specifications); (e) (no obligation of funds inconsistent with the act); (f) (no use of eminent domain); (g) (permits or approvals still required for construction and use of tunnel); (h) (entities using utility tunnel not exempt from taxes); (i) (tunnel agreement does not require Corridor Authority to bring or defend a legal claim); (j) (reimbursement of Bridge Authority for loss of profits due to leasing of tunnel for the transmission of data and telecommunications); and (k) (agreement to include plan to engage state’s labor pool).

Requiring the Corridor Authority to enter into a tunnel agreement, as provided by the Governor and by a certain date, to construct and operate a tunnel so long as it meets statutory criteria is a central, substantive piece of this legislation. Like the power transfer in § 14d(1), it is a component of the main purpose of the body of Act 359 that was required to be reflected in the amended title in a comprehensive yet general way. Pohutski, 465 Mich at 691. But none of the clauses in the amended title generally reflect this purpose or can be construed to reflect this purpose. As a result, the amended title does not provide “fair notice” of an imminent tunnel agreement authorizing the construction of a utility tunnel, nor is § 14d(4) germane, auxiliary, or incidental to the amended title. Rohan, 314 Mich at 356–357. Subsection 14d(4) is thus unconstitutional.

c. Subsection 14d(5)

Finally, § 14d(5) provides that if the “attorney general declines to represent” the Bridge Authority or the Corridor Authority in a “matter related to the utility tunnel,” the “attorney general shall provide for the costs of representation by an attorney . . . chosen by” the Bridge Authority or the Corridor Authority. PA 359, § 14d(5), MCL 254.324d(5). None of the clauses in the amended title adequately encompass, or can be construed to encompass, the Legislature’s imposition of these unusual requirements on the office of attorney general. Thus, to be constitutional the provision must be germane, incidental or auxiliary to the purpose of PA 359 identified in its title. Pohutski, 465 Mich at 691. But this stricture concerning a sitting Attorney General's decision-making regarding the legal representation of the Bridge Authority or the Corridor Authority cannot reasonably be considered an extension of the main purpose of Act 359 as evidenced in its title. Nor is it incidental or auxiliary to that main purpose. As a result, § 14d(5) is also unconstitutional.

Michigan law is clear that where the body of an act exceeds the general scope of what is expressed in the title, the offending provisions violate article 4, § 24. Here, §§ 14d(1), (4) and (5) of Act 359 violate article 4, § 24 because the amended title does not declare in comprehensive yet general terms the purpose of these sections, and the provisions are not otherwise germane, incidental, or auxiliary to Act 359's main purpose as stated in its title.

It is my opinion, therefore, that subsections 14d(1), (4) and (5) of 2018 PA 359 violate article 4, § 24 of the Michigan Constitution because the substance of these provisions exceeds the scope of what is generally reflected in the title of 1952 PA 214, as amended by Act 359.

B. Severability of unconstitutional provisions

Having concluded that §§ 14d(1), (4) and (5) of Act 359 violate article 4, § 24, it is necessary to determine whether the offending provisions may be severed, leaving the remainder of Act 359 intact and operative, or whether the invalidation of these sections is fatal to the Act as a whole.

The Legislature has provided for the severability of invalid statutes in MCL 8.5, which states that “[i]f any portion of an act . . . shall be found to be invalid . . . such invalidity shall not affect the remaining portions . . . of the act which can be given effect without the invalid portion . . . provided such remaining portions are not determined . . . to be inoperable[.]” But, even if this test can be met, invalid provisions will not be severed if severing would be inconsistent with the “manifest intent of the Legislature.” In re request for Advisory Opinion Regarding Constitutionality of 2011 PA 38, 490 Mich 295, 346 (2011); People v McMurchy, 249 Mich 147, 158 (1930) (When one part of a statute is held unconstitutional, the remainder of the statute remains valid unless all parts of the statute are so interconnected that the Legislature would likely not have passed the one part without the other).

With respect to title-body violations, as here, the Michigan Supreme Court has applied severability principles to strike the offending provisions while leaving the remainder of the acts intact. See Rohan, 314 Mich at 357–358; Maki, 385 Mich at 159. The question then is whether the remainder of Act 359 can operate without §§ 14d(1), (4), and (5). Arguably, § 14d(5), concerning legal representation by the Attorney General, could be severed from the Act, leaving the remainder of the Act operable. The answer is less clear regarding §§ 14d(1) and (4). Severing these provisions would essentially leave the Bridge Authority with the power to acquire a utility tunnel under § 14a, but without any of the parameters imposed under § 14d(4), and leave the Corridor Authority in existence under § 14b, but without any of the powers or duties transferred under § 14d(1). Various other provisions would have to be construed in light of the severing of §§ 14d(1) and (4).

Even if it is technically possible to sever §§ 14d(1) and (4), doing so would be inconsistent with the “manifest intent of the Legislature.” In re request for Advisory Opinion re 2011 PA 38, 490 Mich at 346; McMurchy, 249 Mich at 158. As noted above, the central purpose of the body of Act 359 was that the Corridor Authority almost immediately enter into a specific type of agreement to acquire and operate a utility tunnel. Without §§ 14d(1) and 14d(4), the remaining provisions of Act 359 could not achieve that objective. Given the significance of §§ 14d(1) and 14d(4), it cannot be concluded that the Legislature “would have passed [Act 359] had it been aware that [these sections] would be declared to be invalid and, consequently, excised from the act.” Pletz v Secretary of State, 125 Mich App 335, 375 (1983); see also Eastwood Park Amusement Co v Stark, 325 Mich 60, 73 (1949) (stating general rule that unconstitutional provisions may be severed if, among other conditions, “it is clear from the [law] itself that it was the intent of the legislature to enact these provisions irrespective of the others”) (citation and quotation marks omitted). Because §§ 14d(1) and (4) cannot be severed from the remainder of Act 359, it must be concluded that the entire Act is unconstitutional.

It is my opinion, therefore, that sections 14d(1), (4), and (5) of 2018 PA 359, which are unconstitutional under article 4, § 24 of the Constitution, cannot be severed from the remainder of the Act 359 because doing so would be inconsistent with the intent of the Legislature. Because 2018 PA 359 is unconstitutional under article 4, § 24, it is unnecessary to address your additional questions regarding the validity of the statute.²¹

Effect of unconstitutional statute

Finally, you ask whether, “[i]f the Corridor Authority was not created in a manner that conforms with the [Constitution], is the Authority, its board, and action by the board void.” As noted above, after Act 359 took effect on December 12, 2018, former Governor Snyder appointed members to the Corridor Authority Board, and the Board met on December 19, 2018, and approved a tunnel agreement.

As discussed above, this Opinion concludes that certain sections of Act 359 violate article 4, § 24 of the Constitution, that the offending sections cannot be severed, and that, as a result, Act 359 is unconstitutional in its entirety.

In general, an unconstitutional statute is void ab initio; it is void for any purpose and is as ineffective as if it had never been enacted. Stanton v Lloyd Hammond Produce Farms, 400 Mich 135, 144–145 (1977); Dullam v Wilson, 53 Mich 392, 409–410 (1884); People v Gallagher, 4 Mich 244, 280–282 (1856). Under this rule, judicial decisions declarifying statutes unconstitutional have been given full retroactive application. See, e.g., Stanton 400 Mich at 144–145; Briggs v Campbell, Wyant & Cannon Foundry Co, 379 Mich 160 (1967); Horrigan v Klock, 27 Mich App 107 (1970). Doing so in this context would be consistent with another general rule that judicial decisions are normally given complete retroactive effect. Michigan Ed Employees Mut Ins Co v Morris, 460 Mich 180, 189 (1999). “However, these rules are not blindly followed without concern for principles of justice and fairness.” Johnson v White, 261 Mich App 332, 336 (2004).

As the Court of Appeals explained:

In recent decades, Michigan has adopted a flexible approach to determining whether a decision should be applied retroactively or prospectively, which involves the threshold question of whether that decision is establishing a new principle of law, either by overruling clear past precedent on which the parties have relied or by deciding an issue of first impression where the result would have been unforeseeable to the parties. If the decision does not announce a new principle of law, then full retroactivity is favored. [Michigan Ed Employees, 460 Mich 190-191.] Johnson at 336.

Here, the conclusion of this opinion that Act 359 is unconstitutional does not rest upon a new principle of law. On the contrary, it is based upon the application of long-standing precedent such as Rohan, supra, concerning the interpretation of article 4, § 24 of the Constitution. While the question presented as to Act 359 specifically is one of first impression, the conclusion that Act 359 is unconstitutional is foreseeable in light of that precedent. Thus, as a threshold matter, one would expect full retroactivity of a determination that Act 359 is unconstitutional.

Moreover, Michigan caselaw regarding retroactive application of new decisions supports full retroactive application of this opinion to the date of the enactment of Act 359:

Where the decision does reflect a new principle of law, our Supreme Court has acknowledged that resolution of the retrospective-prospective issue ultimately turns on considerations of fairness and public policy, and has employed a three-part test to determine to what extent, if any, a decision should receive retroactive application. Under this test, the Court weighs (1) the purpose to be served by the new rule, (2) the extent of reliance on the old rule, and (3) the effect of retroactivity on the administration of justice. [Johnson at 336, internal quotations and citations omitted]

Here, the purpose of the decision is to ensure adherence to the requirements of article 4, § 24 of the Constitution as long interpreted by Michigan courts. As such, this weighs in favor of retroactive application.

With respect to the second factor, no party who may be affected by retroactive application here could have extensively and reasonably relied upon the assumed validity of Act 359 or agreements premised upon it. Even as this legislation rapidly advanced through the Legislature in December 2018, and the proposed tunnel agreement was being considered with abbreviated public notice,²² the validity of both the legislation and the proposed agreement was subject to intense public and legal scrutiny, foreshadowing likely legal challenges.²³ And on January 1, 2019, your request for this opinion publicly and specifically identified several potential constitutional defects in Act 359, including the violation of the Title-Object Clause of article 4, § 24 of the Constitution. Under these circumstances, any reliance upon assumed validity of the statute was inherently very limited in time and occurred with the understanding that any action might be subsequently invalidated.

Finally, retroactive application of the determination that Act 359 is unconstitutional can have no adverse effect on the administration of justice by Michigan courts. As noted above, there is no pending litigation addressing the validity of Act 359 under article 4, § 24 of the Constitution.

It is my opinion, therefore, that any court determination that Act 359 is unconstitutional would likely apply that decision retroactively, and conclude that the Mackinac Straits Corridor Authority, its Board, and any action taken by the Board are void from their inception.

Subsections 1 and 2 of MCL 168.482a, as amended by 2018 PA 608, requiring paid circulators to file an affidavit before circulating petitions, violate the speech clause of the Michigan Constitution and the U.S. Constitution and are unconstitutional, but may be severed from the remainder of 2018 PA 608.

Subsection 3 of MCL 168.482a, as amended by 2018 PA 608, requiring the invalidation of signatures on petition sheets containing false or fraudulent information supplied by the circulator, does not violate the speech clause of the Michigan Constitution or the U.S. Constitution.

fers from the summary of the proposal previously approved by the Board under § 482b(1), as amended by 2018 PA 608.

Subsection 2 of MCL 168.479, as amended by 2018 PA 608, requiring a person to file a legal challenge regarding a determination as to the sufficiency of an initiative or referendum petition in the Michigan Supreme Court, does not violate article 6, § 4 of the Michigan Constitution.

Subsection 2 of MCL 168.479, as amended by 2018 PA 608, requiring the Michigan Supreme Court to accord highest priority to cases challenging the sufficiency of petitions, violates the separation of powers clause of the Michigan Constitution and is unconstitutional, but may be severed from the remainder of 2018 PA 608.

Opinion No. 7310

May 22, 2019

The Honorable Jocelyn Benson
 Secretary of State
 Richard H. Austin Building 430 W. Allegan Street
 Lansing, MI 48909

You have asked six questions regarding the constitutionality of 2018 PA 608, which amended the Michigan Election Law, 1954 PA 116, MCL 168.1 et seq., to impose additional requirements and limitations on persons seeking to circulate petitions to initiate legislation, to invoke the right of referendum, and to amend the Michigan Constitution.¹

Background

Public Act 608 was introduced as House Bill 6595 on December 6, 2018.² It passed the House, as substituted, on December 12, 2018, by a vote of 60 to 49, and was given immediate effect.³ The Senate made several amendments and passed a substituted bill on December 21, 2018, by a vote of 26 to 12, and gave the bill immediate effect.⁴ The bill was returned to the House the same day, where the Senate substitute was concurred in and passed on a 57 to 47 vote. Then Governor Rick Snyder signed the bill on December 28, 2018, and it became immediately effective.⁵

Legal principles

When addressing a constitutional challenge to a statute, the statute is “presumed to be constitutional” and there is a “duty to construe [the] statute as constitutional unless its unconstitutionality is clearly apparent. Further, when considering a claim that a statute is unconstitutional . . . the wisdom of the legislation” is not part of the inquiry. Taylor v Smithkline Beecham Corp, 468 Mich 1, 6 (2003) (citations omitted). “[I]t is only when invalidity appears so clearly as to leave no room for reasonable doubt that it violates some provision of the Constitution” that the statute’s validity will not be sustained. Phillips v Mirac, Inc, 470 Mich 415, 423 (2004) (quotation marks and citations omitted).

Because the statutes amended or added by Public Act 608 have yet to be applied or enforced as to any person or entity, this office is limited to conducting a facial review of their constitutionality.⁶ Generally, a statute will fail to withstand facial review only if “ ‘no set of circumstances exists under which the [statute] would be valid’ ” and “ ‘[t]he fact that the . . . [statute] might operate unconstitutionally under some conceivable set of circumstances is insufficient’ ” to render it invalid. Council of Organizations & Others for Educ About Parochial, Inc v Governor, 455 Mich 557, 568 (1997), quoting United States v Salerno, 481 US 739, 745 (1987).

Indeed, “ ‘[i]f any state of facts reasonably can be conceived that would sustain [a legislative act], the existence of the state of facts at the time the law was enacted must be assumed’ ” and the statute upheld. Id. But this deference is diminished with respect to facial challenges raising First Amendment issues. As the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals has recognized, courts “rightly lighten this load in the context of free-speech challenges to the facial validity of a law.” Connection Distrib Co v. Holder, 557 F3d 321, 335 (CA 6, 2009)(en banc).

Analysis of Questions

Question 1

In Michigan, the people have retained for themselves the power to initiate or refer legislation and to propose constitutional amendments that, if certain requirements are met, may be placed on the ballot and voted on by the people. Const 1963, art 2, § 9; art 12, § 2. Your first question relates to amendments of MCL 168.471, 168.477, and 168.482(4).

These statutes, as amended by Public Act 608, impose a signature-distribution requirement regarding initiative and referendum petitions circulated under article 2, § 9 and petitions to amend the Constitution circulated under article 12, § 2.⁷

A. Signature-distribution requirement

As amended by Public Act 608, MCL 168.471 now limits the number of petition signatures that may be counted from any one congressional district:

Not more than 15% of the signatures to be used to determine the validity of a petition described in this section shall be of registered electors from any 1 congressional district. Any signature submitted on a petition above the limit described in this section must not be counted.

When filing a petition described in this section with the secretary of state, a person must sort the petition so that the petition signatures are categorized by congressional district. In addition, when filing a petition described in this section with the secretary of state, the person who files the petition must state in writing a good-faith estimate of the number of petition signatures from each congressional district. [Emphasis added.]

Michigan is currently divided into 14 congressional districts, all of which span multiple counties, except for District 13, which includes only Wayne County. See 2011 PA 128.

Consistent with this amendment, MCL 168.477 was amended to provide that the Board of State Canvassers⁸ “may not count toward the sufficiency of a petition described in this section any valid signature of a registered elector from a congressional district submitted on that petition that is above the 15% limit described in section 471.”

⁸ The Board of State Canvassers is a constitutional board created by the Michigan Constitution, Const 1963, art 2, § 7, and its duties and responsibilities are established by law, MCL 168.22(2) and MCL 168.841. The Board is charged with performing various duties relating to the canvass of petitions filed under article 2, § 9 and article 12, § 2. See, e.g., MCL 168.475, 168.476, 168.477.

In keeping with these changes, the Legislature also specified the use of a different petition format for circulating these petitions. MCL 168.482(4) was amended to require that petitions be circulated on a congressional district form:

The following statement must appear beneath the petition heading:

“We, the undersigned qualified and registered electors, residents in the _____ congressional district in the state of Michigan, respectively petition for (amendment to constitution) (initiation of legislation) (referendum of legislation) (other appropriate description).” [Emphasis added.]

Sponsors of initiative petitions must obtain signatures from registered electors totaling 8% (now 340,047) of the total votes cast for all candidates for governor at the last preceding general election. Const 1963, art 2, § 9. Referendum sponsors must obtain signatures from 5% (now 212,530) of registered electors. Id. And sponsors of petitions to amend the Constitution must obtain signatures from registered electors totaling 10% (now 425,059) of the total votes cast for all candidates for governor at the last preceding general election. Const 1963, art 12, § 2.

Before the amendments, these petitions were generally circulated countywide and there was no limit on how many signatures could be collected from any one county. Depending on the size of a county,⁹ a petition sponsor could theoretically collect all 340,047 signatures required for an initiative petition from one county. But under the amendments, no more than 15%—now 51,007 signatures—from any one of the 14 congressional districts may be counted in support of the petition.¹⁰ The 15% limitation therefore has the effect of requiring a sponsor to obtain signatures from roughly half of Michigan’s 14 congressional districts.¹¹ Proponents of the legislative amendments argued that a “maximum percentage from each congressional district would ensure that petitions destined for the ballot weresupported by a more representative geographic cross-section of Michiganders[.]” House Fiscal Analysis, HB 6595, December 13, 2018, p 2.¹²

B. Constitutionality of amendments

You ask whether these amendments are constitutional under article 2, § 9 and article 12, § 2 of the Michigan Constitution.

⁹ The population of Michigan’s 83 counties varies widely. See <http://www.senate.michigan.gov/sfa/Economics/MichiganPopulationByCounty.PDF>.

¹⁰ Fifteen percent of 340,047 is 51,007.05.

¹² The analysis is available at <http://www.legislature.mi.gov/documents/2017-2018billanalysis/House/pdf/2017-HLA-6595-718A3730.pdf> (last accessed May 20, 2019).

Article 2, § 9, regarding initiatives and referendums, provides in relevant part:

The people reserve to themselves the power to propose laws and to enact and reject laws, called the initiative, and the power to approve or reject laws enacted by the legislature, called the referendum To invoke the initiative or referendum, petitions signed by a number of registered electors, not less than eight percent for initiative and five percent for referendum of the total vote cast for all candidates for governor at the last preceding general election at which a governor was elected shall be required.

The legislature shall implement the provisions of this section. [Emphasis added.]

The plain language of § 9 does not include a distribution component with respect to signatures. In other words, § 9 does not limit the number of signatures that can be counted from any particular geographic region or political subdivision in Michigan, nor does it require that petitions be signed by a certain number of registered electors in different geographic or political subdivisions. Rather, “[t]o invoke the initiative or referendum” process only a specific percentage of signatures of registered electors in the State of Michigan “shall be required.”

Article 12, § 2, regarding petitions to amend the Constitution, similarly does not contemplate geographic dispersion of supporting signatures:

Amendments may be proposed to this constitution by petition of the registered electors of this state. Every petition shall include the full text of the proposed amendment, and be signed by registered electors of the state equal in number to at least 10 percent of the total vote cast for all candidates for governor at the last preceding general election at which a governor was elected. Such petitions shall be filed with the person authorized by law to receive the same at least 120 days before the election at which the proposed amendment is to be voted upon. Any such petition shall be in the form, and shall be signed and circulated in such manner, as prescribed by law [Emphasis added.]

Like article 2, § 9, article 12, § 2 does not limit the number of signatures collected from any one geographic region or political subdivision in order to obtain the required 10%. Rather, only a specific percentage of signatures of registered electors in the State of Michigan is required.

The question then is whether the Legislature was authorized to “implem+ent” under article 2, § 9 or to “prescribe[]” under article 12, § 2, the 15% signature distribution limitation.

When interpreting the Constitution, the primary duty is to “ascertain the general understanding and therefore the uppermost or dominant purpose of the people when they approved the provision or provisions.” Michigan Farm Bureau v Sec’y of State, 379 Mich 387, 390–391 (1967). A constitutional provision must be interpreted in the “sense most obvious to the common understanding.” House Speaker v Governor, 443 Mich 560, 577 (1993). One may also consider the circumstances surrounding the adoption of the provision, which may include consideration of the constitutional convention record and reference to existing law and custom at the time of the Constitution’s adoption. Id. at 580–581.

Moreover, there is an overriding rule of constitutional construction that requires that the referendum process “forming as it does a specific power the people themselves have expressly reserved, be saved if possible as against conceivable if not likely evasion or parry by the legislature.” Michigan Farm Bureau, 379 Mich at 393. Thus, “constitutional provisions by which the people reserve to themselves a direct legislative voice ought to be liberally construed.” Kuhn v Dep’t of Treasury, 384 Mich 378, 385 (1971); Farm Bureau Mutual Ins Co of Michigan v Comm’r of Ins, 204 Mich App 361, 367 (1994).

In Wolverine Golf Club v Sec’y of State, the Michigan Supreme Court addressed whether a statute “requiring initiative petitions to be filed not less than 10 days before the start of a legislative session [was] a constitutionally permissible implementation of” article 2, § 9. 384 Mich 461, 465–467 (1971). The Court determined that the statute drew its viability from the 1908 Constitution, and that the relevant provision no longer appeared in § 9. As a result, the Court could “not regard this statute as an implementation of the provision of Const 1963, art 2, § 9.” Id. at 466. The Court “read the stricture of that section, ‘the legislature shall implement the provisions of this section,’ as a directive to the legislature to formulate the process by which initiative petitioned legislation shall reach the legislature or the electorate. This constitutional procedure is self-executing.” Id. (emphasis added). Citing other precedents, the Court continued:

It is settled law that the legislature may not act to impose additional obligations on a self-executing constitutional provision.

“The only limitation, unless otherwise expressly indicated, on legislation supplementary to self-executing constitutional provisions is that the right guaranteed shall not be curtailed or any undue burdens placed thereon”.

Whether we view the ten day filing requirement in an historical context or as a question of constitutional conflict, the conclusion is the same—the requirement restricts the utilization of the initiative petition and lacks any current reason for so doing. [Id. (citations omitted; internal quotations omitted).]

Accordingly, the Court in Wolverine Golf Club held the statute unenforceable. Id. at 466–467.

A similar result is compelled here under article 2, § 9. The Legislature’s authority in § 9 to “implement” that section is limited to “formulat[ing] the process by which initiative petitioned legislation shall reach the legislature or the electorate.” Id. at 466 (emphasis added). The Legislature cannot impose an additional obligation that does not appear in article 2, § 9 and that curtails or unduly burdens the people’s right of initiative and referendum.

Here, the 15% distribution requirement goes beyond a process requirement to impose a substantive limitation on the number of voters within a congressional district whose signatures may be counted under article 2, § 9. Yet § 9 only requires petition sponsors to obtain a specific percentage of signatures from registered electors anywhere in the State of Michigan in order to invoke the right of initiative and referendum. The plain language of article 2, § 9 cannot be interpreted to authorize the Legislature’s imposition of the 15% distribution requirement added by 2018 PA 608.

Turning to article 12, § 2, this section provides that petitions to amend the Constitution “shall be in the form, and shall be signed and circulated in such manner, as prescribed by law.” Const 1963, art 12, § 2. This language “clearly authorizes the Legislature to prescribe by law for the manner of signing and circulating petitions to propose constitutional amendments.” Consumers Power Co v Attorney General, 426 Mich 1, 6 (1986) (emphasis added). See also Citizens for Capital Punishment v Secretary of State, 414 Mich 913, 914–915 (1982). Even so, in a recent challenge to a petition to amend the Constitution, the Michigan Supreme Court cautioned against allowing interference with legislative petitions under the guise of setting procedure:

While the right to propose amendments by initiative must be done according to constitutional requirements, we have observed that “it may be said, generally, that [the right] can be interfered with neither by the legislature, the courts, nor the officers charged with any duty in the premises.” Indeed, we have held that Article 12, § 2 is self-executing, although the Constitution explicitly allows the Legislature to prescribe by law procedures regulating the initiative. [Citizens Protecting Michigan’s Constitution v Sec’y of State, 503 Mich 42, 63 (2018) (emphasis added) (footnotes omitted).]

And this understanding is supported by the 1963 Constitution’s Address to the People with regards to article 12, § 2, which states that “[d]etails as to form of petitions, their circulation and other elections procedures are left to the determination of the legislature[.]” 2 Official Record, Constitutional Convention 1961, p3407 (emphasis added).¹³ See also, OAG, 1963-1964, No. 4285, p 289 (February 20, 1964).

¹³ To ascertain the purpose sought to be accomplished by a constitutional provision, the “Address to the People” may be consulted. Regents of the Univ of Michigan v State, 395 Mich 52 (1975).

Of course, in Consumers Power Co the Michigan Supreme Court determined that a statute could create a rebuttable presumption that petition signatures were stale after 180 days concluding that the statute was within the Legislature's authority:

[T]he Legislature has followed the dictates of the constitution in promulgating MCL 168.472a []. The statute sets forth a requirement for the signing and circulating of petitions, that is, that a signature which is affixed to a petition more than 180 days before that petition is filed with the Secretary of State is rebuttably presumed to be stale and void. The purpose of the statute is to fulfill the constitutional directive of art 12, § 2 that only the registered electors of this state may propose a constitutional amendment. [426 Mich at 7–8.]

However, unlike the statute in Consumers Power Co that created a rebuttable presumption regarding the validity of signatures, the 15% distribution requirement imposes an absolute limitation, which denies many registered electors the right to have their signatures counted—a limitation without any basis in the language of article 12, § 2. As a result, the amendments imposing the 15% distribution requirement are unconstitutional under article 12, § 2.

C. Severability of the amendments

Having concluded that the amendments to §§ 471, 477, and 482(4) of Public Act 608 are unconstitutional, it is necessary to determine whether the offending provisions may be severed from the remainder of Public Act 608.

Public Act 608 does not specifically address severability. Nevertheless, the Legislature has generally provided for the severability of invalid statutes in MCL 8.5, which states that “[i]f any portion of an act . . . shall be found to be invalid . . . such invalidity shall not affect the remaining portions . . . of the act which can be given effect without the invalid portion . . . provided such remaining portions are not determined . . . to be inoperable[.]” See also In re Request for Advisory Opinion Regarding Constitutionality of 2011 PA 38, 490 Mich 295, 346 (2011); People v McMurchy, 249 Mich 147, 158 (1930) (when one part of a statute is held unconstitutional, the remainder of the statute remains valid unless all parts of the statute are so interconnected that the Legislature would likely not have passed the one part without the other).

In this case, except as noted in relation to Question 2, below, the amendments to §§ 471, 477, and 482(4) were insular and discrete additions to these statutes, and they may be struck from the Act, leaving the remaining portions operable and in effect.

It is my opinion, therefore, that the Legislature exceeded its constitutional authority under article 2, § 9 and article 12, § 2 of the Michigan Constitution in enacting a 15% signature distribution requirement based on congressional districts, and the amendments to MCL 168.471, 168.477, and 168.482(4) are unconstitutional, but may be severed from the remainder of 2018 PA 608.¹⁴

Question 2

Your next question concerns amendments to MCL 168.544d. Previously, section 544d provided that “petitions for a constitutional amendment, initiation of legislation, or referendum of legislation or a local proposal may be circulated on a countywide form.” In Public Act 608, however, the Legislature deleted the reference to the initiative and referendum petitions so that the section now provides:

Nominating petitions for the offices under this act and petitions for a local proposal may be circulated on a countywide form. Petitions circulated countywide must be on a form prescribed by the secretary of state, which form must be substantially as provided in sections 482, 544a, or 544c, whichever is applicable. The secretary of state may provide for a petition form larger than 8-1/2 inches by 13 inches and shall provide for Identification of the city or township in which the person signing the petition is registered. The certificate of the circulator may be on the reverse side of the petition. This section does not prohibit the circulation of petitions on another form prescribed by this act. [MCL 168.544d, as amended by 2018 PA 608.]

As a result of the amendment, § 544d no longer expressly provides for the circulation of petitions to amend the Constitution, to initiate legislation, or for a referendum, to be circulated on a countywide form. This amendment was presumably made as part of the 15% signature distribution limitation, which required these petitions to be circulated within a congressional district.

You ask whether you “retain the authority to prescribe a substantially compliant, congressional district-based form for statewide ballot proposals.”

As discussed above in question one, the amendments limiting the number of signatures that may be counted from each congressional district and requiring the use of a congressional district petition form are unconstitutional. With those amendments stricken, the question becomes whether the Legislature would still have intended to preclude the use of countywide petition forms for initiating petitions to amend the Constitution, to initiate legislation, or for a referendum, as previously permitted by § 544d. In other words, it must be determined whether barring the use of countywide forms would be consistent with the “manifest intent of the Legislature.” See In re Request for Advisory Opinion Regarding Constitutionality of 2011 PA 38, 490 Mich at 346; McMurchy, 249 Mich at 158.

Here, the central purpose for removing the option of using countywide forms for initiatives and referendums appears to have been to effectuate the new requirement that these initiatives be circulated on a congressional district petition form. See MCL 168.482(4). With the district-level requirements no longer applicable, precluding the option of using countywide forms is no longer consistent with the Legislature's intent. Therefore the amendment to § 544d cannot be severed from the changes to §§ 471, 477, and 482(4).

As a result, the previous versions of § 482(4) and § 544(d) would continue to apply. See, e.g., Frost v Corporation Comm, 278 US 515, 526–528 (1929) (unconstitutional amendment of statute was a nullity, “leaving the provisions of the existing statute unchanged”); Campau v Detroit, 14 Mich 276, 286 (1886); Fillmore v Van Horn, 129 Mich 52 (1901). Subsection 482(4) previously provided for circulation of these petitions within a city or township, i.e., on a city-township petition form. Section 544d allowed countywide forms. Since the previous language applies again, petitions to initiate or refer legislation or to amend the Constitution may be circulated on a city-township petition form, and on a countywide form under § 544d.

It is my opinion, therefore, that petitions to initiate legislation or a referendum, and petitions to amend the Constitution, may be circulated on a city-township petition form under MCL 168.482(4) or on a countywide form under MCL 168.544d.

Questions 3 and 6

In questions 3 and 6 you raise concerns relating to new requirements regarding the form of petitions and circulation requirements. 2018 PA 608, §§ 482 482a, 482c. You ask whether these provisions are constitutional.

A. Check-box requirement

The form of a petition to initiate or refer legislation or to amend the Constitution is generally provided for in MCL 168.482. Public Act 608 amended MCL 168.482 by adding subsection 7, which requires that “[e]ach petition under this section must provide at the top of the page check boxes and statements to clearly indicate whether the circulator of the petition is a paid signature gatherer or a volunteer signature gatherer.” (Emphasis added.)¹⁵

Given its nature, this statute is best analyzed under the speech clause of the Michigan Constitution and the U.S. Constitution. Const 1963, art 1, § 5; US Const, Am I.

In Woodland v Michigan Citizens Lobby, the Michigan Supreme Court clarified that the state's speech and association clauses, article 1, §§ 3 and 5, applied to the “individual right to solicit signatures” for petitions. 423 Mich 188, 215 (1985). The free speech rights guaranteed by article 1, § 5 have been interpreted as cotermi-nous with those of the First Amendment, and Michigan courts have applied First Amendment jurisprudence in analyzing speech rights under the Michigan Constitution. Id. at 202; Michigan Up & Out of Poverty Now Coal v State, 210 Mich App 162, 168–69 (1995).

In the seminal case Meyer v Grant, the U.S. Supreme Court expressly held that “[t]he circulation of an initiative petition” is “core political speech” that “involves both the expression of a desire for political change and a discussion of the merits of the proposed change.” 486 US 414, 421–22 (1988). See also John Doe No. 1 v Reed, 561 US 186, 195 (2010) (“the expression of a political view [by the signor of a petition] implicates a First Amendment right”). But the Court has also recognized that “there must be a substantial regulation of elections if they are to be fair and honest and if some sort of order, rather than chaos, is to accompany the democratic processes.” Storer v Brown, 415 US 724, 730 (1974); see Buckley v American Constitutional Law Found, Inc (ACLF), 525 US 182, 187 (1999); Timmons v Twin Cities Area New Party, 520 US 351, 358 (1997); Anderson v Celebrezze, 460 US 780, 788 (1983). “States allowing ballot initiatives have considerable leeway to protect the integrity and reliability of the initiative process, as they have with respect to election processes generally.” ACLF, 525 US at 191. And Michigan’s Constitution expressly provides that the Legislature “shall enact laws to regulate the time, place, and manner of all nominations and elections, to preserve the purity of elections,” and to “guard against abuses of the elective franchise[.]” Const 1963, art 2, §4(2).

In apparent exercise of that authority, the Michigan Legislature amended section 482, adding subsection 7, which requires that a petition form contain check boxes for the circulator to mark, designating his or her status as either a paid or voluntary circulator. 2018 PA 608, § 482(7).¹⁶ Section 482c was also added, providing that the “circulator of a petition under section 482 who knowingly makes a false statement concerning his or her status as a paid signature gatherer or volunteer signature gatherer is guilty of a misdemeanor.” 2018 PA 698, § 482c. As a result, the face of a petition circulated under § 482 now raises the issue of whether the circulator is paid or a volunteer, and a circulator who knowingly marks the wrong check box is guilty of a misdemeanor.¹⁷

The U.S. Supreme Court has decided “a series of precedents considering First Amendment challenges to disclosure requirements in the electoral context. These precedents have reviewed such challenges under what has been termed ‘exacting scrutiny.’” John Doe No. 1, 561 US at 196 (citations omitted). “That standard ‘requires a “substantial relation” between the disclosure requirement and a “sufficiently important” governmental interest.” Id. (citations omitted). “To withstand this scrutiny, ‘the strength of the governmental interest must reflect the seriousness of the actual burden on First Amendment rights.’” Id. (citations omitted).

¹⁷ While the statute requires that the form contain these check boxes, and further requires that the check boxes must be completed at the time the petition is submitted, there is no explicit requirement in the statute that the check boxes be completed at the time the petitions are circulated. Nevertheless, the inclusion of the new language on the form raises the issue of the circulator’s volunteer or paid status when the form is presented for signature and invites inquiry if not completed at the time prior to or during the interaction between the circulator and the elector.

The legislative history for Public Act 608 does not reveal either the purpose for enacting the check-box requirement or the concern that the amendment was intended to address. The U.S. Supreme Court has observed that disclosure requirements can provide “the electorate with information about the sources of election-related spending” and “help citizens make informed choices in the political marketplace.” Citizens United, 558 US at 367. See also Buckley v Valeo, 424 US 1, 66 (1976) (disclosure provides the electorate with information “as to where political campaign money comes from and how it is spent,” thus aiding electors in evaluating who seeks their vote) (internal quotation marks omitted).

With respect to the use of paid circulators, the U.S. Supreme Court has addressed the validity of various disclosure requirements. In ACLF, the Court addressed both a requirement that circulators wear badges, which included their name and status as a paid or voluntary circulator, and a requirement that circulators complete an affidavit section of the petition that included the circulator’s name, address, and signature. 525 US at 197–198. Recognizing the badge requirement as different in kind from the affidavit, the Court upheld the affidavit requirement, but held that the badge requirement violated Free Speech principles because it worked to discourage political expression at the crucial moment in the petition process.

The Court’s analysis addressed only the requirement that the badge include the circulator’s name, and found it unconstitutional because it “force[d] circulators to reveal their identities at the same time they deliver their political message” and “expose[d] the circulator to the risk of heat of the moment harassment.” Id. at 198–199 (internal citations and quotations omitted). “The affidavit, in contrast, does not expose the circulator to the risk of ‘heat of the moment’ harassment.” Id. (citation omitted).

The Court reasoned that the moment the circulator interacts with the voter is a critical juncture and “[t]he injury to speech is heightened . . . because the badge requirement compels personal name identification at the precise moment when the circulator’s interest in anonymity is greatest.” ACLF, 525 US at 199. The Court contrasted that result with the affidavit requirement, “which must be met only after circulators have completed their conversations with electors[.]” Id. (citation omitted). Accordingly, the Supreme Court held that the badge requirement “discourages participation in the petition circulation process” and violated the First Amendment. Id. at 200.

The ACLF Court contrasted disclosure requirements imposed on initiative proponents, and concluded that to the extent the statutes required the payors (the ballot initiative proponents) to disclose their expense information, the statutes were constitutional. In particular, the Court addressed whether statutes requiring ballot initiative proponents to file monthly reports and a final report disclosing specific information as to circulators—their names, addresses, and the amount the circulators were paid—were unconstitutional. 525 US at 201. Recognizing that disclosure provisions can further important governmental interests relating to transparency and deterring corruption in the elections process, see Buckley, 424 US at 66–68, the Court concluded that “[d]isclosure of the names of initiative sponsors, and of the amounts they have spent gathering support for their initiatives, responds to that substantial state interest.” Id. at 202–203. But with respect to disclosing the circulators’ information, the “added benefit of revealing the names of paid circulators and amounts paid to each circulator . . . is hardly apparent and has not been demonstrated.” Id. at 203.

The Court also observed that ballot initiatives do not present the same risk of corruption as when money is spent on behalf of candidates. Id., citing Meyer, 486 US at 427–428. And with respect to the use of paid circulators, the Court stated that “absent evidence to the contrary, ‘we are not prepared to assume that a professional circulator—whose qualifications for similar future assignments may well depend on a reputation for competence and integrity—is any more likely to accept false signatures than a volunteer who is motivated entirely by an interest in having the proposition placed on the ballot.’” Id., at 203–204, quoting Meyer, 486 US at 426.

Consequently, while recognizing the state’s interest in disclosure of petition proponent information, the Supreme Court concluded that “[l]isting paid circulators and their income from circulation ‘forc[es] paid circulators to surrender the anonymity enjoyed by their volunteer counterparts,’” and that the requirement was only “tenuously related to the substantial interests disclosure serves.” Id. at 204 (internal citations omitted). Thus, “Colorado’s reporting requirements, to the extent that they target paid circulators, ‘fail[] exacting scrutiny.’” Id. at 204. The Court noted that Colorado could protect the integrity of the ballot initiative process through less problematic measures and did so through various other statutes. Id. at 204–205.¹⁸

See also Washington Initiatives Now v Rippie, 213 F3d 1132, 1139 (CA9, 2000) (striking down a state law that required only paid circulators to disclose their identities).

Like the disclosure requirement found unconstitutional in ACLF, the check-box requirement at issue here focuses, not on information relevant to the proponent of a petition, but rather on the circulator collecting signatures. It similarly exposes the circulator to the risk of “heat of the moment” harassment, without any apparent state interest in the circulator’s personal details. Thus, under ACLF’s rationale, the check-box requirement fails to meet the exacting scrutiny necessary for its constitutional validity.

The Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals’ recent decision in Libertarian Party of Ohio v Husted further supports this conclusion. In Husted, the court rejected a facial First Amendment challenge to an Ohio statute that required circulators of nominating petitions to disclose on petition sheets “ ‘the name and address of the person employing the circulator to circulate the petition, if any.’ ” 751 F3d 403, 406 (CA 6, 2014). The court upheld the statute where the record demonstrated a small burden a provision voiding petitions if a circulator violates any provision of the laws governing circulation. ACLF, 525 US at 204–205.

on First Amendment activity coupled with an important and well-established governmental interest to which the disclosure requirement was substantially related.

In particular, after reviewing the record, the Sixth Circuit determined that the state’s established interests outweighed what little evidence there was of burden: “the relevant evidence of chill—whether to paid circulators generally or to those who circulate on behalf of minor party candidates—can best be described as scant. There is no record of any harassment or other efforts to dissuade circulators from circulating petitions.” Id. at 416. The Court further observed that when we assess the chill apt to flow from Ohio’s employer disclosure requirement, we note that the disclosure is not made by the circulator to the voter. Rather, the disclosure is made by the circulator when the petition is filed, after the signatures are gathered. So while the core First Amendment activity of communicating with voters is occurring, the disclosure requirement plays no part.

Id. at 417. The court emphasized that the circulator would not be inhibited in the circulator’s interactions with a voter (elector) based on the disclosure requirement: “So while the core First Amendment activity of communicating with voters is occurring, the disclosure requirement plays no part.” Id. at 417 (emphasis added). As a result, the “circulator does not directly lose anonymity with the voter whose signature is being solicited.” Id.

Turning to the government’s interest, the Sixth Circuit observed that the disclosure requirement had been adopted in the wake of proven fraud in the circulation of nominating petitions for a candidate for president by paid circulators. Id. at 417. The court noted testimony from the government that “the employer information requirement helps deter fraud and also to detect it,” because “[i]t encourages employers of circulators to educate the circulators about applicable law and to hire individuals who will not reflect negatively on them. The information also helps if followup is necessary, because employers are often easier to contact than circulators.” Id. Also, the “information enables the [Ohio] Secretary of State’s Office to cross-check with campaign expenditure reports and thus contributes to overall reporting compliance.” Id. The Court noted additional testimony regarding fraud by paid circulators who had used names and addresses from phone books, and the absence of fraud by volunteer circulators. Id. at 418. “Taking all this testimony together, it appears that the employer disclosure requirement serves substantial and legitimate state interests. The governmental interest is far more than theoretical since Ohio has experienced fraud by paid circulators.” Id.

Balancing the minimal burden imposed on circulators against the substantial governmental interest that was buttressed by proven instances of fraud, the court determined that the disclosure requirements met constitutional requirements. In doing so, the court further noted that the ACLF decision involved ballot initiative petitions and, there, the Supreme Court had not been presented with evidence of actual fraud. Id. at 419–420.

As can be seen, the Sixth Circuit’s decision in Husted reinforces the conclusion that the check-box requirement does not withstand constitutional scrutiny. As noted, the Michigan check-box requirement exposes the circulator to possible exchanges with an elector, which may have a chilling effect on the circulator's willingness to participate in this process and thus is unlike Ohio's disclosure requirement in Husted. Rather than "play[ing] no part" in the gathering of signatures, Husted, 751 F3d at 417, Michigan's requirement may in fact create a "heat of the moment" exchange. Moreover, the statute at issue here relates to initiative petitions, as was at issue in ACLF, not candidate petitions. Thus, controlling precedent in this jurisdiction supports the conclusion that the check-box requirement does not survive exacting scrutiny.

It is true that a factually analogous case from another jurisdiction upheld the statute in question, but its analysis is not persuasive. In Citizens in Charge v Gale, a federal district court upheld a Nebraska statute that required ballot initiative petitions to include a statement on the face of the petition that the circulator is being paid or is a volunteer circulator, whichever was applicable, in large type and red ink. 810 F Supp 2d 916, 922 (D Neb, 2011). That court rejected the plaintiffs' argument that the required language was "pejorative" as to paid circulators and constituted compelled speech and instead appeared to be swayed by the Government's argument that the requirement helped deter circulation fraud and did not impose a significant burden on circulators. Indeed, the record showed that a majority of petition drives after enactment of the statute that had been successful in placing issues on the ballot had used paid petition circulators. Id. at 928. Accordingly, the Court held the statute was constitutional.

However, not only is Gale not binding in Michigan, but it is inconsistent with AFLC's concerns about circulators experiencing "heat of the moment harassment" and with the Supreme Court's recognition that there is a more substantial governmental interest in disclosure of information about the petition proponent than disclosure of information about the circulator at the point when the circulator is interacting with the public. Further still, unlike the evidentiary backdrop in Gale which served to justify the disclosures, no such evidence exists here. Consequently, Gale does not warrant a different conclusion as to Public Act 608's check-box requirement.

In sum, the check-box requirement added to MCL 168.482(7) by Public Act 608 imposes a significant burden on the free speech rights of petition circulators under the state and federal constitutions without advancing any stated or apparent state interest in contemporaneous disclosure of the circulator's paid or volunteer status. As such, it does not meet the standard of exacting scrutiny applied in ACLF and is therefore unconstitutional. And, because the check-box requirement itself is unconstitutional, the inextricably related provision of Section 482c (which makes it a misdemeanor for a petition circulator to knowingly make a false statement concerning his or her status as a paid or volunteer signature gatherer—a statement that would be made in the check box) is likewise unconstitutional.

B. Severability of check-box requirements

Having concluded that the addition of § 482a(7) and § 482c in Public Act 608 is unconstitutional, it is necessary to determine whether the offending provisions may be severed from the remainder of Public Act 608.

As noted previously, Public Act 608 does not specifically address severability, but the Legislature has generally provided for the severability of invalid statutes in MCL 8.5. See also In re Request for Advisory Opinion Regarding Constitutionality of 2011 PA 38, 490 Mich 295, 346 (2011); People v McMurchy, 249 Mich 147, 158 (1930). In this case, the addition of § 482a(7) and § 482c was insular and discrete and thus may be struck from the Act, leaving the remaining portions operable and in effect.

It is my opinion, therefore, that subsection 7 of MCL 168.482, and MCL 168.482c, as amended by 2018 PA 608, requiring the disclosure of the paid or voluntary status of petition circulators on the face of a petition, violate the speech clause of the Michigan Constitution and the U.S. Constitution, but may be severed from the remainder of 2018 PA 608.

C. Circulator affidavit requirement

Public Act 608 also added MCL 168.482a(1) and (2), which require that a “paid signature gatherer” submit a separate affidavit before circulating a petition, and further require that signatures be rejected if the circulator does not do so:

- (1) If an individual who circulates a petition under section 482 is a paid signature gatherer, then that individual must, before circulating any petition, file a signed affidavit with the secretary of state that indicates he or she is a paid signature gatherer.
- (2) Any signature obtained on a petition under section 482 by an individual who has not filed the required affidavit under subsection (1) is invalid and must not be counted.

As above, these statutes are subject to “exacting scrutiny” under the First Amendment. John Doe No. 1, 561 US at 196. There must be a “substantial relation” between the affidavit requirements and a “sufficiently important” governmental interest. Id. “To withstand this scrutiny, ‘the strength of the governmental interest must reflect the seriousness of the actual burden on First Amendment rights.’” Id. (citations omitted). In making this evaluation, other provisions in the regulatory scheme that serve a similar purpose and how those provisions interact with the challenged law should be considered. See ACLF, 525 US at 204–205.

Like the check-box provision, the affidavit requirements “target paid circulators” similar to the provisions struck down in ACLF. Subsections 482a(1) and (2) effectively require paid circulators to register to circulate petitions— requirements that do not apply to volunteer circulators. Moreover, the failure to file the affidavit before circulating as a paid circulator will result in the rejection of those signatures that were improperly collected. Together, these requirements impose a significant burden on paid circulators that does not apply to volunteer circulators. And this burden appears only tenuously responsive to a sufficiently important governmental interest.

The purpose of the affidavit requirement appears to be to provide the State with pre-circulation notice of a paid circulator’s status. As discussed above, the Supreme Court, in ACLF, affirmed that states have a “substantial state interest” in knowing who is sponsoring an initiative or referendum and how much is being spent to support the proposal. ACLF, 525 US at 202–203. And the Court concluded that Colorado’s reporting statutes requiring the “[d]isclosure of the names of initiative sponsors, and of the amounts they have spent gathering support for the initiatives, respond[ed] to that substantial state interest.” Id. at 202–203.

But here the affidavit requirement does not substantially respond to that interest because it does not require the disclosure of any payor information. In fact, it requires nothing about the sponsor, only confirmation of a circulator’s status as a paid circulator to the Secretary of State. Additionally, at the time of filing, a petition will also contain the circulator’s residential address, city or township, state, and zip code, in the event it becomes necessary to contact the circulator.¹⁹ No reason is apparent why the Secretary of State would need, or be helped by, receiving this status information of a circulator. As a result, the affidavit requirement is not substantially related to Michigan’s interest in transparency and the protection against corruption in the initiative and referendum process and, to the extent it targets paid circulators, the statute fails exacting scrutiny and is unconstitutional. See ACLF, 525 US at 204.

D. Severability of circulator affidavit requirement

Having concluded that subsections 482a(1) and (2) of Public Act 608 are unconstitutional, it is necessary to determine whether these provisions may be severed from the remainder of Public Act 608. Like the provisions discussed above, the addition of these subsections was insular and discrete. Thus, they may be struck from the Act, leaving the remaining portions operable and in effect. MCL 8.5; In re Request for Advisory Opinion, 490 Mich at 346; McMurchy, 249 Mich at 158.

It is my opinion, therefore, that subsections 1 and 2 of MCL 168.482a, as amended by 2018 PA 608, requiring paid circulators to file an affidavit before circulating petitions, violate the speech clause of the Michigan Constitution and the U.S. Constitution, but may be severed from the remainder of 2018 PA 608.

E. Certificate of circulator requirements

Consideration of your question about the penalties for false statements added by Public Act 608 requires a discussion of requirements for circulator certifications found elsewhere in the act.

¹⁹ MCL 168.544c, which applies to petitions circulated under § 482, requires a circulator to sign a petition and include a residential address, along with other information, before filing the petition with the Secretary of State. See MCL 168.482(6), 168.544c(1)–(3), (5), and (15).

Petitions circulated under MCL 168.482 (i.e., those for constitutional amendment, initiation of legislation, or referendum of legislation) must contain a “certificate of circulator” as provided for in MCL 168.544c(1), which generally applies to different types of petitions. See MCL 168.482(6). Under § 544c(1) the petition form must state under the heading “certificate of circulator”:

The undersigned circulator of the above petition asserts that he or she is 18 years of age or older and a United States citizen; that each signature on the petition was signed in his or her presence; that he or she has neither caused nor permitted a person to sign the petition more than once and has no knowledge of a person signing the petition more than once; and that, to his or her best knowledge and belief, each signature is the genuine signature of the person purporting to sign the petition, the person signing the petition was at the time of signing a registered elector of the city or township listed in the heading of the petition, and the elector was qualified to sign the petition.

The circulator is then directed to not sign or date the certificate until after circulating the petition. Id. The petition must thereafter include the following language:

If the circulator is not a resident of Michigan, the circulator shall make a cross or check mark on the line provided, otherwise each signature on this petition sheet is invalid and the signatures will not be counted by a filing official. By making a cross or check mark on the line provided, the undersigned circulator asserts that he or she is not a resident of Michigan and agrees to accept the jurisdiction of this state for the purpose of any legal proceeding or hearing that concerns a petition sheet executed by the circulator and agrees that legal process served on the secretary of state or a designated agent of the secretary of state has the same effect as if personally served on the circulator.

(Printed Name and Signature of Circulator) (Date)

(Complete Residence Address (Street and Number or Rural Route)) Do not enter a post office box

(City or Township, State, Zip Code)

(County of Registration, if Registered to Vote, of a Circulator who is not a Resident of Michigan)

Warning-A circulator knowingly making a false statement in the above certificate, a person not a circulator who signs as a circulator, or a person who signs a name other than his or her own as circulator is guilty of a misdemeanor. [MCL 168.544c(1).]

In addition to setting forth these form requirements, § 544c also imposes certain related penalties. For example, MCL 168.544c(5) provides that a “circulator shall not obtain electors’ signatures after the circulator has signed and dated the certificate of circulator.” If a circulator does so, the “filing official shall not count electors’ signatures that were obtained after the date the circulator signed the certificate or that are contained in a petition that the circulator did not sign and date.” Id. MCL 168.544c(8) provides that an “individual shall not . . . make a false statement in a certificate of a petition,” or “[s]ign a name as circulator other than his or her own.” An individual who does so, which includes a circulator, is guilty of a misdemeanor. MCL 168.544c(9). Section 544c imposes various other possible penalties and fines related to violations of subsection 544c(8), including the disqualification of “obviously fraudulent signatures on a petition form[.]” See MCL 168.544c(9)–(12). These provisions “apply to all petitions circulated under authority of the election law” “except as otherwise expressly provided[.]” MCL 168.544c(15)

1. Subsection 482a(3)

Subsection 482a(3), as added by 2018 PA 608, invalidates all signatures on a particular petition sheet if the circulator “provides or uses a false address or provides any fraudulent information on the certificate of circulator.” (Emphasis added.) Under this subsection, in addition to a misdemeanor penalty for providing false information in the certificate of circulator pursuant to subsection 544c(8), all the signatures on the relevant petition sheet will be discounted. A determination regarding whether a circulator used a “false address” or provided “fraudulent information” on a petition sheet would be made by the Board of State Canvassers during the canvass of the petition under MCL 168.476(1)–(2).²⁰ Given the content and timing of this penalty, it may have been added in response to a recent decision by the Michigan Court of Appeals, which held that “Michigan’s election laws make no allowance for striking elector signatures in the event that a circulator records an incorrect address” in the circulator’s certificate. Protecting Michigan Taxpayers v Bd of State Canvassers, 324 Mich App 240, 250 (2018).

You question the constitutionality of subsection 482a(3)’s discounting of elector signatures based on a circulator’s provision of false or fraudulent information on the petition sheet.

This is not the first time that the Legislature has invalidated signatures based on circulator error. MCL 168.544c(5) requires the exclusion of elector signatures or entire petition sheets based on the date of the signature or if the sheet was not signed and dated by the circulator: “A filing official shall not count electors’ signatures that were obtained after the date the circulator signed the certificate or that are contained in a petition that the circulator did not sign and date.” MCL 168.544c(2) requires the rejection of a signature if the elector “does not include his or her signature, his or her street address or rural route, or the date of signing on the petition[.]” See also Protecting Michigan Taxpayers, 324 Mich App at 248–250 (discussing application of MCL 168.544c). Thus, a circulator’s error in failing to sign and date a petition before filing, or in collecting signatures after the date the circulator has signed and dated the petition, will result in the invalidation of otherwise valid elector signatures.

²⁰ Subsection 476(2) provides that the “board of state canvassers may hold hearings upon any complaints filed or for any purpose considered necessary by the board to conduct investigations of the petitions. To conduct a hearing, the board may issue subpoenas and administer oaths.” MCL 168.476(2).

Now, a circulator's inclusion of a false address or other fraudulent information in the certificate will result in the discounting of elector signatures under § 482a(3).

When deciding whether a ballot access restriction is constitutional one must weigh the "character and magnitude" of the burden the state's rule imposes on those rights against the interests the state contends justify that burden, and consider the extent to which the state's concerns make the burden necessary. Burdick v Takushi, 504 US 428, 434 (1992), quoting Anderson v Celebrezze, 460 US at 788–789. Regulations imposing severe burdens on rights must be narrowly tailored and advance a compelling state interest. But lesser burdens will trigger less taxing review, and a state's " 'important regulatory interests' " will usually be enough to justify " 'reasonable, nondiscriminatory restrictions.' " Burdick, 504 US at 434, quoting Anderson, 460 US at 788.

Subsection 482a(3)'s requirement that elector signatures be rejected based on a circulator's inclusion of false information on a petition imposes a more than minimal but less than severe burden on petition circulators and on electors who sign the petition. As discussed above, the State already rejects elector signatures based on circulator errors, and that provision has been upheld. See, e.g., Taxpayers United for Assessment Cuts v Austin, 994 F2d 291, 298–299 (CA 6, 1993) (affirming as constitutional Michigan statute requiring rejection of petition signatures where circulator dated petition sheet incorrectly). "States allowing ballot initiatives have considerable leeway to protect the integrity and reliability of the initiative process[.]" ACLEF, 525 US at 191. Michigan has a substantial interest in protecting against fraudulent practices or corruption in the initiative and referendum process. John Doe No. 1, 561 US at 197–198. Discounting signatures on petition sheets on which a circulator has knowingly included a false address or other fraudulent information may encourage petition sponsors to more carefully select and educate the circulators they deploy. And it may protect against the inclusion of fraudulent signatures on a petition if the circulator is required to provide a correct address at which he or she may be found if there is any question as to the validity of petition signatures. Thus, on a facial review of this statute, the substantial interest of the State in promoting the integrity of the process, on balance, outweighs the burden imposed on petition circulators and signers. But again, because this is a new statute that has yet to be applied, it is possible that the future application of the statute to a particular circulator or elector may warrant subsequent review by the courts.

It is my opinion, therefore, that subsection 3 of MCL 168.482a, as amended by 2018 PA 608, requiring the invalidation of signatures on petition sheets containing false or fraudulent information supplied by the circulator, does not violate the speech clause of the Michigan Constitution or the U.S. Constitution.

2. MCL 168.482a(4)

Subsection 4 of § 482a provides that "[i]f a petition under section 482 is circulated and the petition does not meet all of the requirements under section 482, any signature obtained on that petition is invalid and must not be counted.” 2018 PA 608 § 482a(4).²¹

Subsection 482a(4) acts as a general, catch-all penalty provision for a form or content violation of § 482 not covered by another more specific statute. See, e.g., MCL 168.544c. For example, if a petition circulated under § 482 failed to include the new summary of the proposal required by § 482(3) or the warning to electors required under § 482(5), § 482a(4) would require signatures on that petition sheet to be discounted. In Stand Up for Democracy v Secretary of State, the Michigan Supreme Court held that mandatory petition form and content requirements must be complied with, and that nonconforming petitions are not entitled to placement on the ballot. 492 Mich 588, 601–619 (2012). “Entitlement to be placed on the ballot requires a showing of actual compliance with the law.” Id. at 619. Subsection 482a(4) essentially implements that holding by confirming that form and content errors will result in the invalidation of signatures. This result is mitigated to some extent by the fact that petition sponsors may seek approval as to the form of their petition before circulating.²²

Because the right to initiate or refer legislation, or to amend the Michigan Constitution, “is a wholly state-created right, . . . the state may constitutionally place nondiscriminatory, content-neutral limitations on the . . . ability to initiate” these processes. Taxpayers United for Assessment Cuts, 994 F2d at 297. Assuming that the form or content requirement is itself valid, subsection 482a(4) is a nondiscriminatory, content-neutral limitation, and is not unconstitutional. Id. at 297–299 (affirming as constitutional various Michigan statutes regarding the form and content of petitions and the rejection of signatures for failing to conform to statutes).

It is my opinion, therefore, that subsection 4 of MCL 168.482a, as amended by 2018 PA 608, requiring the invalidation of signatures on a petition sheet that does not comply with a mandatory form or content requirement, does not violate the speech clause of the Michigan Constitution or the U.S. Constitution.

3. MCL 168.482(5)

Subsection 5 of § 482a invalidates a signature on a petition sheet if it was “not signed in the circulator’s presence[.]” 2018 PA 608, § 482a(5). Similarly, as discussed above, the “certificate of circulator” prescribed by § 544c(1) both informs generally and requires the circulator to certify specifically “that each signature on the petition was signed in his or her presence.” MCL 168.544c(1). Subsection 482a(5)

²¹ Public Act 608 amended § 482 to require a corresponding warning statement appear on the petition “that if the petition circulator does not comply with all of the requirements of this act for petition circulators, any signature obtained by that petition circulator on that petition is invalid and will not be counted.” 2018 PA 608, § 482(8).

²² The statutes provide for the Board of State Canvassers’ review of the petitions after the petitions have been circulated and signatures obtained. See MCL 168.475; 168.476; 168.477. But for many years, the Board has provided the service of allowing persons or organizations circulating petitions to come before the Board and obtain pre-approval as to the form of their petitions prior to being circulated.

now requires the discounting of signatures affixed to a petition outside the presence of the circulator. The importance of requiring an elector to sign in the presence of the circulator warrants little discussion. If a petition is signed outside the presence of the circulator, the circulator has no ability to affirm that the signature is in fact that of the person who purportedly signed the petition. The rejection of signatures proven to have been obtained outside the presence of the circulator is supported by the State's substantial interest in protecting against fraudulent practices or corruption in the initiative and referendum process. John Doe No. 1, 561 US at 197–198. See, e.g., Taxpayers United for Assessment Cuts, 994 F2d at 298–299 (affirming as constitutional Michigan statute requiring rejection of petition signatures where the circulator incorrectly dated the petition sheet). Subsection 482a(5) is a nondiscriminatory, content-neutral limitation and is not unconstitutional.

It is my opinion, therefore, that subsection 5 of MCL 168.482a, as amended by 2018 PA 608, requiring the invalidation of signatures on a petition that were not signed in the presence of the circulator of the petition sheet, does not violate the speech clause of the Michigan Constitution or the U.S. Constitution.

Question 4

Your fourth question relates to § 482, which was amended by Public Act 608 to require that petition sponsors include “[a] summary in not more than 100 words of the purpose of the proposed amendment or question proposed” on the face of a petition. MCL 168.482(3).

Public Act 608 also added § 482b, which permits, but does not require, a petition sponsor to submit the summary of the purpose of a proposed amendment or question to the Board of State Canvassers for approval:

A person who circulates a petition under section 482 may, before circulating any petition, submit the summary of the purpose of the proposed amendment or question proposed that is required under section 482(3) to the board of state canvassers for approval as to the content of the summary. The board of state canvassers must issue an approval or rejection of the content of the summary not more than 30 days after the summary is submitted. The board of state canvassers may not consider a challenge to the sufficiency of a submitted petition on the basis of the summary being misleading or deceptive if that summary was approved before circulation of the petition. [MCL 168.482b(1) (emphasis added).]

The apparent aim of this provision was to provide a “safe harbor” that would preclude the Board of State Canvassers from subsequently finding fault with the petition based on the content of the summary. If a petition sponsor elects to submit the summary for review, subsection 482b(2) requires that the Director of Elections prepare the summary for review and approval by the Board of State Canvassers. 2018 PA 608, § 482b(2).

A. Approval of summary process

You note that “sponsors of referendum petitions are at a unique disadvantage compared with the sponsors of other types of petitions because the process by which the petition summary is approved can last up to 30 days.” You further observe that “[a]lthough the approval process is voluntary, referendum petition sponsors who forego it due to time constraints will be deprived of the statute’s safe harbor against future challenges.” You ask whether this result is constitutional.

Based on your question, you do not challenge the Legislature’s authority to require that a petition include a summary of the proposal under subsection § 482(3). Nor do you generally challenge the enactment of the voluntary review and approval process for the summary described in subsection § 482b(1). Rather, you question the application of the voluntary review process to sponsors of referendum petitions in certain situations.

Under Const 1963, art 2, § 9, “[t]he power of referendum . . . must be invoked. . . within 90 days following the final adjournment of the legislative session at which the law was enacted.”²³ This provision has been interpreted to fix the end date by which a referendum petition must be filed, but not the start date for circulating petitions. Michigan Farm Bureau v Sec’y of State, 379 Mich at 393–396.

Referendum petitions may be circulated before the end of the legislative session. The relevant date is the date of enactment of the targeted act. Id. But the petitions must be filed no later than the ninetieth day after adjournment of the session. Thus, this provision could result in a shorter circulation window when compared to petitions to initiate legislation or to amend the Constitution.²⁴ But that result is provided for by the text of the Constitution.

What is clear from the text of § 9, however, is that referendum sponsors are generally entitled to a minimum of 90 days within which to circulate and file petitions—from the date of adjournment to the ninetieth day after adjournment. Statutes that encroach on this minimum circulation period require scrutiny to determine whether they impose an impermissible “additional obligation[]” or “undue burdens” on the right to propose referenda. Wolverine Golf Club, 384 Mich at 466.

Here, the worst-case scenario would arise when a bill is enacted on the very last day of the legislative session. In that case, a referendum sponsor would have only the minimum 90 days within which to complete the circulation and filing of a petition. And if a sponsor elects to have a petition summary approved by the Board of State

²⁴ There is no prescribed time period for circulating ballot proposal petitions. Instead, petition sponsors are guided by the application of MCL 168.472a, which provides that signatures more than 180-days old “shall not be counted.”

Canvassers it could take the Board thirty days to approve the summary under subsection 482b(1). In that case, if the referendum sponsor submits the summary for approval by the Board on day one of the 90-day period, and it takes the Board until the thirtieth day to approve the summary, the sponsor may have only 60 days left within which to circulate the petition and collect the required 212,530 signatures. Certainly, if approval of the summary was required by § 482b(1) under these circumstances, it could well result in an unconstitutional burden. Wolverine Golf Club, 384 Mich at 466.

Subsection 482b(1) does not require petition sponsors to seek approval of the summary. That process is voluntary. By choosing to forego the approval process, a referendum petition sponsor will not benefit from MCL 168.482b(1)'s express instruction that the Board of State Canvassers "may not consider a challenge to the sufficiency of a submitted petition on the basis of the summary being misleading or deceptive if that summary was approved before circulation of the petition." Nevertheless, it is a choice, not a requirement.

It is my opinion, therefore, that subsection 1 of MCL 168.482b, as amended by 2018 PA 608, providing an approval process for the summary of a ballot proposal, does not violate article 2, § 9 of the Michigan Constitution.

B. Use of summary as ballot language

You also ask whether the Board of Canvassers may later approve ballot language that differs from a summary of the statement of purpose previously approved by the Board of Canvassers under § 482b(1).

MCL 168.482b(2), as added by Public Act 608, imposes requirements on petition summary language and provides that it be prepared by the Director of Elections subject to approval by the Board of State Canvassers:

If a person submits the summary of the purpose of the proposed amendment or question proposed [to the Board of Canvassers] as provided in subsection (1), all of the following apply:

(a) The summary of the purpose of the proposed amendment or question proposed must be prepared by the director of elections, with the approval of the board of state canvassers.

(b) The summary is limited to not more than 100 words and must consist of a true and impartial statement of the purpose of the proposed amendment or question proposed in language that does not create prejudice for or against the proposed amendment or question proposed.

(c) The summary must be worded so as to apprise the petition signers of the subject matter of the proposed amendment or question proposed, but does not need to be legally precise.

(d) The summary must be clearly written using words that have a common everyday meaning to the general public.

As you note in your request, the drafting requirements for the summary of the purpose mirror the requirements for the ballot language that the Director of Elections drafts and the Board of State Canvassers approves after a petition to initiate or refer legislation or to amend the Constitution has been declared sufficient for placement on the ballot. See MCL 168.22e, 168.32, 168.477, 168.485, and 168.643a.

“Nothing will be read into a statute that is not within the manifest intention of the Legislature as gathered from the act itself.” In re Schnell, 214 Mich App 304, 309 (1995). Moreover, “there is a presumption against implied repeals.” Int’l Business Machines Corp v Dep’t of Treasury, 496 Mich 642, 660 (2014), citing Jackson v Michigan Corrections Comm, 313 Mich 352, 356 (1946). In enacting Public Act 608, the Legislature left untouched the statutes providing for the drafting, review, and approval of the ballot language by the Director of Elections and the Board. And the Legislature did not expressly provide that, if a summary is approved, it must also be used as the ballot language.

Because the drafting standards are the same for both the summary and ballot language, the summary could later be approved by the Board of State Canvassers as ballot language—but the Board is not required to use the previously approved summary. Rather, the Director of Elections and the Board remain authorized to draft and approve ballot language that differs from the petition summary. See MCL 168.22e, 168.32, 168.477, 168.485, and 168.643a. Notably, if the Director and the Board intend to use the previously approved summary as ballot language, the language must still be approved in conformity with MCL 168.22e, which requires the approval of ballot language for initiative and referendum petitions take place at a public meeting of the Board noticed three days in advance of the meeting date. Various individuals have a right to notice of, and to speak at, the public meeting regarding proposed ballot language. MCL 168.22e(1)–(2).

It is my opinion, therefore, that the Director of Elections and the Board of State Canvassers are authorized to draft and approve a statement of purpose for a statewide ballot proposal that differs from the summary of the proposal previously approved by the Board under MCL 168.482b(1), as amended by 2018 PA 608.

Question 5

Finally, you ask whether MCL 168.479, as amended by Public Act 608, violates any part of article 6 of the Michigan Constitution relating to the judiciary, or Michigan’s separation of powers clause, as set forth in article 3, § 2 of the Constitution.

A. Filing in the Michigan Supreme Court

Public Act 608 added subsection 2 to MCL 168.479, which provides that a person aggrieved by a decision of the Board of State Canvassers concerning the sufficiency of a petition must file a claim in the Michigan Supreme Court within seven days:

(1) Notwithstanding any other law to the contrary and subject to subsection (2), any person who feels aggrieved by any determination made by the board of state canvassers may have the determination reviewed by mandamus or other appropriate remedy in the supreme court.

(2) If a person feels aggrieved by any determination made by the board of state canvassers regarding the sufficiency or insufficiency of an initiative petition, the person must file a legal challenge to the board's determination in the supreme court within 7 business days after the date of the official declaration of the sufficiency or insufficiency of the initiative petition or not later than 60 days before the election at which the proposal is to be submitted, whichever occurs first. [Emphasis added.]

Under subsection 2, aggrieved persons appear limited to filing legal challenges regarding the sufficiency of an initiative petition in the Supreme Court. Previously, given the discretionary “may” in subsection 1, such claims were typically brought first in the Michigan Court of Appeals, and then appealed to the Michigan Supreme Court as necessary, consistent with MCL 600.4401(1)

Article 6, § 4 of the Constitution sets forth the Supreme Court's jurisdiction: “[T]he supreme court shall have general superintending control over all courts; power to issue, hear and determine prerogative and remedial writs; and appellate jurisdiction as provided by rules of the supreme court.” (Emphasis added.) “Mandamus is properly categorized as both an ‘extraordinary’ and a ‘prerogative’ writ.” O’Connell v Director of Elections, 316 Mich App 91, 100 (2016). Thus, the Supreme Court has jurisdiction to hear and determine complaints for writs of mandamus, although that jurisdiction is not exclusive to the Supreme Court. Id. at 106 (discussing jurisdiction of courts over requests for mandamus). Notably, “[t]he legislative department cannot grant or withhold such jurisdiction.” In re Mfr’s Freight Forwarding Co., 294 Mich 57, 69 (1940).

As a general matter, the Supreme Court retains complete discretion to consider which cases it will hear. See MCR 7.303(B); MCR 7.306. Supreme Court review is mandatory only in cases involving “a Judicial Tenure Commission order recommending discipline, removal, retirement, or suspension.” MCR 7.303(A). In enacting § 479(2), the Legislature neither granted the Supreme Court jurisdiction nor withheld jurisdiction. In re Mfr’s Freight Forwarding Co., 294 Mich at 69. Subsection 479(2) simply requires that an aggrieved person file a legal challenge to the sufficiency of an initiative petition in the Supreme Court. Nothing in § 479(2) requires the Supreme Court to exercise its jurisdiction; instead, it merely directs persons where to file legal challenges.

Even though the Legislature may direct litigants to make their initial filings in the Supreme Court, there is, of course, no guarantee that the Supreme Court will actually take jurisdiction of that legal challenge. The Court retains its authority to direct or remand a complaint for writ of mandamus to the Michigan Court of Appeals for an initial decision, and the Court may well direct a legal challenge filed under section § 479(2) to be refiled in the Court of Appeals. MCR 7.300(B). Accordingly, the first sentence of § 479(2) does not violate article 6, § 4.

It is my opinion, therefore, that the provision in MCL 168.479(2), as amended by 2018 PA 608, requiring an aggrieved person to file a legal challenge regarding a determination as to the sufficiency of an initiative petition in the Michigan Supreme Court is not unconstitutional under article 6, § 4 of the Michigan Constitution.

B. According “highest priority” to sufficiency challenges

Subsection 479(2) was further amended to provide that the Michigan Supreme Court must accord challenges to the sufficiency of a petition “highest priority”:

Any legal challenge to the official declaration of the sufficiency or insufficiency of an initiative petition has the highest priority and shall be advanced on the supreme court docket so as to provide for the earliest possible disposition. [2018 P 608, § 479(2) (emphasis added).]

Determining whether this statute is constitutional requires consideration of the separation of powers clause and the constitutional powers of the Supreme Court. The Michigan Constitution provides for the separation of powers of the three branches of government. Specifically, article 3, § 2 states:

The powers of government are divided into three branches: legislative, executive and judicial. No person exercising powers of one branch shall exercise powers properly belonging to another branch except as expressly provided in this constitution.

The Constitution grants the Supreme Court exclusive authority to “establish, modify, amend and simplify the practice and procedure in all courts of this state.” Const 1963, art 6, § 5; McDougall v Schanz, 461 Mich 15, 26 (1999) (“It is beyond question that the authority to determine rules of practice and procedure rests exclusively with this Court.”) Indeed, the Supreme Court has held that “[t]he function of enacting and amending judicial rules of practice and procedure has been committed exclusively to this Court . . . ; a function with which the legislature may not meddle or interfere save as the Court may acquiesce and adopt for retention at judicial will.” Perin v Peuler (On Rehearing), 373 Mich 531, 541 (1964). For this reason, to the extent that § 479(2) seeks to control the Supreme Court’s established practices and procedures, it is unconstitutional.

In dictating that a legal challenge to the sufficiency of an initiative petition has the highest priority and must be advanced on the Supreme Court docket, the Legislature has interfered with the Supreme Court’s authority to determine rules of practice and procedure. In fact, the Supreme Court has already provided for a general procedure by which proceedings in the Supreme Court may be expedited. MCR 7.311(E) provides:

A party may move . . . to expedite any proceeding before the Court. The motion or an accompanying affidavit must identify the manner of service of the motion on the other parties and explain why . . . expedited scheduling of the proceeding is necessary. If the motion is granted, the Court will schedule an earlier hearing or render an earlier decision on the matter.

There is no Michigan Court Rule providing expedited Supreme Court consideration of petition disputes.²⁵ That is not to say that the Supreme Court has not considered the matter. With respect to such disputes in the Court of Appeals, MCR 7.213(C)(4) provides:

The priority of cases on the [Court of Appeals'] session calendar is in accordance with the initial filing dates of the cases, except that precedence shall be given to:

* * *

(4) appeals from all cases involving election issues, including, but not limited to, recall elections and petition disputes.

In sum, under our Constitution, it is the Supreme Court's role to establish the rules of practice and procedure in the courts of this state. And the Court has done so with respect to whether and in which court, i.e., the Court of Appeals, petition disputes should be mandatorily expedited.

Under these circumstances, MCL 168.479(2)'s second requirement, which purports to establish a procedural rule that is within the exclusive control of the Supreme Court, is unconstitutional.

C. Severability of the amendment

Having concluded that § 479(2)'s "priority" requirement is unconstitutional, it is necessary to determine whether this provision may be severed from the "place of initial filing" requirement and from the rest of Public Act 608. The primary issue is whether the portion of § 479(2) remaining after its last sentence has been severed is capable of functioning alone. See, e.g., In re Request for Advisory Opinion Regarding Constitutionality of 2011 PA 38, 490 Mich 295, 345 (2011) (noting that it has long been established that "[i]t is the law of this State that if invalid or unconstitutional language can be deleted from an ordinance and still leave it complete and operative then such remainder of the ordinance be permitted to stand").

As discussed above, § 479(2) consists of two sentences. The first dictates where and when an aggrieved person must file a legal challenge regarding the sufficiency of an initiative petition. The second, which is unconstitutional, dictates that the ²⁵ There are also no administrative orders requiring the expedited consideration of election cases.

Supreme Court must treat that legal challenge as the highest priority and advance it on the Supreme Court's docket. Given the different subjects of the two sentences, the first sentence is capable of functioning without the second sentence. In fact, in the second sentence's absence, the Michigan Court Rules will govern. Therefore, while the "priority" requirement is unconstitutional, the "place of initial filing" requirement may remain in full force and effect.

It is my opinion, therefore, that subsection 2 of MCL 168.479, as amended by 2018 PA 608, requiring the Michigan Supreme Court to accord highest priority to cases challenging the sufficiency of petitions, violates the separation of powers clause of the Michigan Constitution, but may be severed from the remainder of 2018 PA 608.

The Michigan State Capitol Commission has the authority to prohibit firearms in the areas under its control, which include the inside of the Capitol building, pursuant to 2013 PA 240, MCL 4.1941 et seq.

Opinion No. 7311

May 11, 2020

Honorable Christine Greig
State Representative
The Capitol
Lansing, MI 48909

You have asked whether the Michigan State Capitol Commission is vested with the authority to prohibit firearms in the areas under its control.

The Michigan State Capitol Commission was created by the Michigan State Capitol Historic Site Act (Act), 2013 PA 240, MCL 4.1941 et seq. Under the Act, “the Michigan state capitol historic site[¹] shall be under the exclusive control of the commission,” which shall “operate and manage the Michigan state capitol historic site.” MCL 4.1944(3) (footnote added); MCL 4.1946(1)(a). The only limitation on this broad authority that is expressed in the statute is that the Commission “shall not exercise control over the internal decisions of the senate or the house of representatives related to the allocation of space in the state capitol building or the state capitol building parking lot, including legislative or staff offices.” MCL 4.1946(2).

Although it is clear the Commission is vested with the general authority to “operate and manage” the Capitol grounds and the Capitol building, your question pertains to whether this authority includes the specific power to regulate firearms. In furtherance of its statutory obligations, the Capitol Commission previously approved “Procedures for the Use of the Public Areas of the Michigan State Capitol.”² This publication enumerates various procedures to ensure the protection of the Capitol grounds and Capitol building, as well its employees and visitors. These procedures include certain restrictions on the time, place and manner of gatherings and demonstrations. But, to date, the Commission has imposed no restrictions on firearms. The absence of such restrictions has led to unscreened, armed persons congregating on the Capitol grounds and entering the Capitol building and seating themselves in the public galleries above the chambers of the Legislature. This has occurred even during times of protest and demonstration outside the Capitol building and moments of controversial debate on the legislative floors inside the Capitol building—situations when emotions and passions are known to run high. Obviously, this is a potentially dangerous combination.

The U.S. Supreme Court has held that although individuals have a right under the Second Amendment³ to possess a firearm, “[l]ike most rights, the right secured by the Second Amendment is not unlimited.” District of Columbia v Heller, 554 US 570, 626 (2008). It is “not a right to keep and carry any weapon whatsoever in any manner whatsoever and for whatever purpose.” Id. In fact, Heller recognized the validity of “laws forbidding the carrying of firearms in sensitive places such as . . . government buildings . . .” Id.

In Michigan, the concept of “open carry” does not provide the unfettered right to bring firearms into any public space. Numerous restrictions already exist on openly carrying firearms in public places. See e.g., MCL 750.234d (listing various premises, such as a court, church, and hospital, where “a person shall not possess a firearm”); MCL 750.237a (providing for “[w]eapon free school zones”). Although holders of a concealed pistol license (CPL) are exempted from some of these restrictions, even a CPL is not without its limitations. See MCL 28.425o.⁴ Relevant to this authority, the Court of Appeals affirmed the University of Michigan’s ordinance barring all weapons on university property. See Wade v Univ of Michigan, 320 Mich App 1, 6, 16, 22 (2017) (noting the “unique character of the University Board of Regents and its exclusive authority over the management and control of its institution”), app pending, 926 NW2d 806 (2019).

Significantly, the other limitations to MCL 28.425o need not be statutory. For example, the Michigan Supreme Court, by administrative order, has prohibited “[w]eapons . . . in any courtroom, office, or other space used for official court business . . . unless the chief judge or other person designated by the chief judge has given prior approval consistent with the court’s written policy.” Administrative Order 2001-1. This administrative order and similar circuit court orders have been cited by the Michigan Court of Appeals without questioning the legal basis for these limitations. See Michigan Open Carry Inc v Clio Area School Dist, 318 Mich App 356, 373 (2016) (“Despite that MCL 750.234d(2)(c) permits concealed weapon holders to carry concealed weapons in ‘[a] court,’ our Supreme Court has promulgated an administrative order barring the presence of all weapons in court facilities unless approved by the chief judge Many circuit courts have issued their own policies banning the presence of weapons. See, e.g., Oakland County Circuit and Probate Courts, Joint Administrative Order No. 2012–06J[.]” emphasis in original). The issuance of such policies is consistent with the analysis and informal guidance provided by this office in 2018. See Informational Letter from Chief Legal Counsel to Representative Lee Chatfield, dated February 1, 2018, p 10 (“some state agencies . . . might impose limitations on possession of a firearm in restricted areas of government buildings”).⁵

⁴ MCL 28.425o is not an exhaustive list of prohibitions. MCL 28.425c(3) (“Subject to section 5o and except as otherwise provided by law...”) (emphasis added).

In addition to being an example of a non-statutory, broad, prohibition on carrying a firearm, the Supreme Court’s administrative order is significant for another reason. It illustrates why the Commission is not barred from regulating firearms by virtue of MCL 123.1102, which states that “[a] local unit of government” generally may not regulate the possession of firearms. For purposes of MCL 123.1102, a “local unit of government” means “a city, village, township, or county.” MCL 123.1101(b). The Michigan Supreme Court has general superintending control over all courts,⁶ most of which are located within a city, village, township, or county. If the Michigan Supreme Court, with its extensive municipal reach, is not a “local unit of government,” then the Commission is likewise not a local unit of government. Rather, it is the caretaker of the Capitol—the hub of democracy for all Michiganders.

This conclusion is borne out not only by comparing the nature of the Commission to the nature of the Michigan Supreme Court, but also by applying the Court’s precedent. The “local unit of government” language was addressed in Michigan Gun Owners, Inc v Ann Arbor Public Schools, 502 Mich 695 (2018). In that case, the Court upheld the school district’s firearms regulations by acknowledging that “while MCL 123.1102 expressly preempts regulation of firearms by a city, village, township, or county, it does not apply to school districts, which are left out of the Legislature’s list.” Id. at 704. According to the Court, “because MCL 123.1102 and MCL 123.1101 show the Legislature’s intent to preempt some local units of government from regulation but not others, that intent controls.” Id. at 707. Thus, a non-local unit of government, or at least a unit of government that is not a “city, village, township, or county,” may lawfully impose restrictions on carrying firearms.

The Commission is not a city, village, township, or county. It is a statutorily-created instrumentality of state government, vested with the exclusive, broad, authority to “operate and manage” the Capitol site. As the Commission has previously recognized in approving procedures for the use of the public areas of the Capitol, this grant of authority includes not only the obligation to care for and protect the Capitol grounds and facilities, but also the obligation to care for and protect the safety of those working in and visiting the Capitol grounds and facilities. And in fulfilling that obligation, the Commission, like the Michigan Supreme Court, is not prohibited from placing restrictions on carrying firearms at facilities under its control.

It is my opinion, therefore, that the Michigan State Capitol Commission has the authority to prohibit firearms in the areas under its control, which include the inside of the Capitol building, pursuant to 2013 PA 240, MCL 4.1941 et seq.

CIVIL SERVICE

The position of executive director of the Automotive Theft Protection Authority is included in the State’s classified service pursuant to Chapter 61 of the Insurance Code of 1956, 1956 PA 218, MCL 500.6101 et seq., and article 11, § 5 of the Constitution.

Opinion No. 7312

December 18, 2020

The Honorable Aaron Miller
State Representative
The Capitol
Lansing, MI 48909

The Honorable Joseph Tate
State Representative
The Capitol
Lansing, MI 48909

You have asked whether the executive director of the Michigan Automobile Theft Prevention Authority is a member of the State’s classified service.

Your question regarding the position of executive director of the Automobile Theft Prevention Authority (ATPA), and whether the position is within the State’s classified service, requires consideration of both the dictates of the Michigan Constitution establishing the classified service and the statutory framework of the ATPA.

Michigan’s Constitution is the starting point for any question of whether an employment position is within the State’s classified service. Article 11, Section 5 of the Michigan Constitution provides that “[t]he classified state civil service shall consist of all positions in the state service.” There are limited, specific exceptions to this general rule, including the heads of principal departments, members of boards and commissions, and the principal executive officer of boards and commissions heading principal departments. Const 1963, art 11, § 5. Each principal department is also accorded two additional exempt positions, one of which must be policy-making. Id. In short, “all positions in the state service shall be in the classified state civil service” unless an explicit exemption applies. OAG, 1965–1966, No. 4484, p 153 (October 13, 1965).

Turning to the statutory authorization granted by the Legislature to the ATPA, the Legislature created the ATPA pursuant to Chapter 61 of the Insurance Code of 1956, 1956 PA 218, as amended by 1992 PA 174, MCL 500.6101 et seq. The ATPA was established to perform various tasks regarding automobile theft in the State, including evaluating how automobile thefts impact the citizens of Michigan. MCL 500.6111. The ATPA was created as a “public body corporate and politic” with the purposes, powers, and duties of the authority vested in a board of directors. MCL 500.6103(1), (2). A previous Attorney General Opinion, which evaluated the validity of a reduction in spending authority of the ATPA by Executive Order, affirmed the status of the ATPA as a public body corporate and politic that is neither a private corporation nor a municipal corporation, but is in “a class of artificial entities that have been designated ‘quasi corporations.’” [OAG, 2007-2008, No. 7203, p 41, at 43 (April 25, 2007), citing Advisory Opinion re Constitutionality of 1966 PA 346, 380 Mich 554 (1968)].¹ Quasi-corporations such as the ATPA may operate independently to the extent authorized by the Legislature, but Michigan law treats the ATPA as an instrumentality of the State.²

As noted, the Constitution provides that heads of principal departments, members of boards and commissions, and the principal executive officers of boards or commissions that head principal departments are excepted from the classified service. Const 1963, art 11, § 5. The position of executive director of the ATPA does not fit within any of these categories. Unlike the Department of State Police, which is a principal department of state government, headed by a department director who is excepted from classified service, MCL 16.104(5), 16.251, the ATPA is not an independent principal department. Instead, the Legislature designated that the ATPA is housed within the Department of State Police, and the department controls several aspects of the ATPA’s function, including budgeting, procurement, and administrative responsibilities for ATPA employees. MCL 500.6103(7). The members of the ATPA board are excepted from the classified service by the terms of the Constitution, but any executive director position within the ATPA is not a “principal executive officer” of a board heading a principal department, because the ATPA is not an independent principal department.

Further, the Legislature did not specifically create an executive director position within ATPA; rather, the Legislature created a board of directors to exercise the statutory ATPA powers. MCL 500.6103. Finally, no information provided with your request indicates that the Department of State Police designated the position of ATPA executive director as one of its limited, constitutionally-exempt positions. Const 1963, art 11, § 5.

In your request, you noted the Michigan Supreme Court’s decision in City of Dearborn v Michigan Turnpike Authority, 344 Mich 37 (1955), and asked whether the

... is merely a Quasi corporation, that is the clothing of an agency or instrumentality of state government with corporate powers to perform some public work in the course of the administration of civil government. [380 Mich at 570.]

² In a recent unpublished decision, the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan evaluated the status of the ATPA as a government entity entitled to immunity, and concluded that the ATPA is an arm of the State of Michigan and entitled to Eleventh Amendment immunity. Joumaah v McMahon, No. 16-11802, 2016 WL 7337248, at *5 (ED Mich, Dec. 19, 2016).

Court's reasoning applies to the ATPA. It does not. In that case, the Legislature created the Michigan Turnpike Authority, which was to be funded by toll roads, and authorized the authority to employ personnel and to fix their compensation. The Turnpike Authority Act specifically provided that the authority's funding "shall not be subject to supervision or regulation by any other commission, board, bureau or agency of the state." Id. at 57. Because the Court concluded that the Turnpike Authority was completely independent of any state agency, its employees were exempt from the classified service. Id. at 57–58. As noted earlier, the ATPA is not completely independent from the Department of State Police, which controls the ATPA's budgeting, procurement, and the administrative responsibilities for its employees. MCL 500.6103(7).

The position of executive director of the ATPA is not excepted from the classified service under the Constitution because the ATPA is not a principal department of government, nor is it independent of state government. Rather, the ATPA is a state instrumentality subject to a degree of supervision and control by the Department of State Police, and, thus, its employees are subject to the Civil Service Rules and Regulations. Further, the position of executive director of the ATPA has not been designated as one of the limited exempt positions within the Department of State Police. It is our understanding that this conclusion is consistent with past practice between the Department of State Police and the Civil Service Commission, in that the executive director position for the ATPA was approved in 2016 as part of the classified service as a "State Police First Lieutenant" position.

It is my opinion, therefore, that the position of executive director of the Automotive Theft Protection Authority is included in the State's classified service pursuant to Chapter 61 of the Insurance Code of 1956, 1956 PA 218, MCL 500.6101 et seq, and article 11, § 5 of the Constitution.

The Civil Litigation, Employment and Elections Division handles civil rights, elections, employment and some tort litigation in state and federal courts throughout Michigan for many branches of state government. This civil litigation defense practice also includes a substantial trial and appellate docket involving significant state and federal law constitutional issues impacting all citizens of the state. The division provides legal advice and representation to state agencies, officers and employees in all branches of state government (with the exception of the Department of Transportation) when sued civilly based on several theories of liability under either state or federal law. The division's staff also provides representation to state agencies, principally the Department of Corrections, in the administrative and arbitration litigation forums allowed under the Civil Service Rules and Regulations.

Civil Rights Division

Ron. D. Robinson, Division Chief

The Civil Rights Division advises and represents the Michigan Civil Rights Commission (MCRC) and the Michigan Department of Civil Rights (MDCR) and cooperates with other state departments and agencies in addressing civil rights and civil liberties related matters.

The division prepares and files formal charges of discrimination by the MDCR alleging civil rights violations and represents the MDCR at formal administrative hearings and in appeals taken. In cases which the Attorney General determines presents issues of major significance to the jurisprudence of the state and in which the MCRC is not a party, the division represents the MCRC as an intervener or amicus curiae.

The division brings court proceedings to enforce orders issued by the MCRC or the MDCR and seeks injunctive relief in cases of unlawful discrimination in the areas of housing and public accommodation.

The division also supervises the Driver License Restoration Section (DLRS). The DLRS represents the Michigan Secretary of State in driver license restoration matters in Grand Traverse, Macomb, Oakland, Washtenaw, and Wayne counties, and handles out-county appeals referred by the Secretary of State.

In 2019, the division was expanded to include three new units: Hate Crimes, Wrongful Imprisonment Compensation Act (WICA) and Conviction Integrity Units (CIU).

The Hate Crimes unit is responsible for investigating and prosecuting individuals who commit hate crimes under state and federal hate crimes statutes. The unit also provides training and assistance to local law enforcement and communities on how to identify and report hate crimes.

The WICA unit was created in response to the passage of the Michigan Wrongful Imprisonment Compensation Act, MCL 691.1753. The statute allows those wrongfully convicted of crimes to receive up to $50,000 per year for their time spent in prison and provides for attorney fees. The WICA unit reviews and decides whether an individual is entitled to compensation and attorney fees under the Act.

The CIU was created to investigate credible claims of innocence to ensure that no one is convicted of a crime they did not actually commit.

The bureau has a variety of responsibilities including the investigation and prosecution of a broad array of criminal matters, with a particular emphasis on public corruption, cold case homicides, hate crimes, insurance fraud, human trafficking, sex crimes, casino related crimes, elder financial exploitation, and crimes that cross county lines.

The bureau responds to habeas corpus petitions in the federal courts filed by state prisoners claiming their federal constitutional rights were violated in their state criminal proceedings; responds to criminal appeals filed by convicted felons on behalf of the 56 county prosecutors in counties with populations below 75,000 residents; responds to criminal appeals filed by those convicted of crimes prosecuted by the Attorney General's Criminal Trials and Appeals-Trial Section; and responds to motions to set aside (expunge) state convictions. In addition, the attorneys prosecute cases arising from our state partners including unlicensed builders (LARA), welfare fraud (DHHS), cases that arise inside the casinos or pop-up casino violators (gambling), and insurance fraud (DIFS).

Criminal Trials and Appeals Division

Danielle E. Hagaman-Clark, Acting Division Chief

The Criminal Trials and Appeals Division - Appeals Section has three primary functions: (1) representing the state prison wardens in civil federal habeas corpus litigation brought in the federal courts (2) representing the county prosecutors for Michigan's 56 counties with populations of 75,000 or less and the department's Criminal Division in direct appeals from felony convictions, and (3) handling petitions to set aside convictions (expungements).

In performing its federal habeas function, the Criminal Appellate Division: responds to habeas petitions filed in federal district court that challenge the constitutionality of the underlying state court convictions through significant briefing; conducts evidentiary hearings in federal district court; drafts supplemental briefing, motions, and motion responses; prosecutes and defends appeals taken from grants and denials of habeas relief in federal district court in the United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit through comprehensive briefing and oral argument; seeks review of select habeas grants in the United States Supreme Court and responds to petitions from denials as needed; and coordinates with county prosecutors, state courts, and victims of crime.

In performing its state criminal appeal function, the Criminal Appellate Division: handles comprehensive briefing and oral argument in the Michigan Court of Appeals and the Michigan Supreme Court; files amicus curiae briefs on select criminal issues at the direction of the Attorney General and Solicitor General; serves as a legal resource to county prosecutors and the department's Criminal Division; and coordinates with county prosecutors and victims of crime.

In performing its expungement function, the Criminal Appellate Division reviews applications to set aside convictions and determines if applicants are statutorily eligible, and files the appropriate response on behalf of the Attorney General.

The Criminal Trials and Appeals Division - Trials Section prosecutes criminal cases based on the Attorney General's common law and statutory duties as Michigan's chief law enforcement officer and her statutory responsibility to supervise Michigan's 83 prosecuting attorneys.

Financial Crimes Division

Scott L. Teter, Division Chief

The Child, Elder and Family Financial Crimes Division was established in 2018, and was later renamed the Financial Crimes Division. The division has two units. The White-Collar Unit has a Memorandum of Agreement with 1) Department of Licensing and Regulatory Affairs to prosecute unlicensed realtors, accountants, and security brokers; 2) Department of Insurance and Financial Services to prosecute crimes by insurance agents and state-chartered credit union employees; and 3) Department of Treasury to prosecute sales tax evasion and income tax evasion.

The White-Collar Unit also includes the Elder Financial Crimes Division that was formed in 2018 to assist local law enforcement and prosecution of elder financial exploitation over $100,000.

The Child Support Division was created in 2003 and merged with the White-Collar Unit in 2018 to form the Child, Elder and Family Financial Crimes Division to combat the problem of unpaid child support. Since its inception, Child Support Unit has collected over $317 million in child support for over 25,000 Michigan children. The unit has issued 15,680 warrants encompassing arrearages totaling over $511 million. Michigan is a national leader in using criminal prosecution to hold chronic non-payers accountable for neglecting the needs of their children. The unit investigates and prosecutes felony non-support cases throughout the state of Michigan.

Funding for the Child Support Unit is provided, in part, by federal IV-D grant money administered in Michigan by the Department of Health and Human Services of the Office of Child Support. The grant monies reimburse the Department of Attorney General for 66% of all division expenses.

ENVIRONMENT AND GOVERNMENT OPERATIONS BUREAU

S. Peter Manning
Bureau Chief

The Environment and Government Operations Bureau is comprised of nine divisions: Collections, Environment, Natural Resources and Agriculture, Finance, Public Administration, Michigan Department of Corrections (MDOC), Revenue and Tax, Special Litigation, State Operations, and Transportation. The bureau provides legal counsel and represents a variety of state agencies and commissions in all state and federal courts and administrative tribunals. The bureau also represents the Attorney General when exercising her independent common law and statutory authority.

The state agencies and commissions represented by the bureau serve a variety of regulatory and government services functions. The regulatory functions include protecting the state's environment and natural resources, enforcing food safety laws, and advocating for utility ratepayers and for elder and other vulnerable adults. The government services functions include protecting public finances through ensuring compliance with tax laws, collecting debt owed to the public, and defending tort and other monetary claims against the state. It also includes providing and maintaining public transportation and other infrastructure, operating the state prison system, providing public safety, and overseeing general government operations.

Other important functions of the bureau are advising and representing the state in matters involving Michigan's twelve federally recognized tribes. This includes matters related to treaty rights, tribal gaming, and taxation. The bureau chief is also the emergency management coordinator for the department and advises the Attorney General on matters related to emergency management and homeland security.

Collections Division

Margaret A. Bartindale, Division Chief

The Collections Division was re-established in January 2018 as a Detroit-based division for the representation of the Michigan Department of Treasury's collection efforts. This division acts as legal counsel to the Department of Treasury in all matters pertaining to the collection of state and City of Detroit taxes. It also represents all state departments in the collection of delinquent accounts referred to Treasury, throughout the 34 counties in the eastern portion of the state of Michigan, in the majority of states east of the Mississippi River, and Canada. Representation includes defense of claims arising in bankruptcy cases, foreclosure actions, probate cases, receiverships and assignments for the benefit of creditors. The division also represents Treasury in pursuit of collection of tax delinquencies throughout all of the United States.

In addition to the work performed directly on behalf of Treasury, throughout all of Michigan the division investigates and files suit on behalf of the State Treasurer against inmates' property interests to recover the cost of care. These activities are mandated by the State Correctional Facility Reimbursement Act (SCFRA) and are commonly referred to as prison reimbursement.

The representation of Treasury in collection and SCFRA activities includes the prosecution and defense of matters in both state and federal courts. Practice in courts of general and limited jurisdiction is required, including bankruptcy, probate and appellate courts.

The figures reported below include files closed during the time period for the collection of state and City of Detroit taxes, as well as delinquent state accounts. During the calendar years, $12,645,645.19 was attributed to delinquent accounts. This includes $5,855,799.46 that was attributed during the period to prison reimbursement accounts.
